21 Die in Sudan As Tribes Riot

More Than 100 Wounded as 30,000 Demonstrate Against Naguib Visit

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Police bullets beat off a wild attack on the British Governor-General's residence today by yelling Sudanese tribesmen brandishing steel-tipped spears in a demonstration against visiting Egyptian President Mohammed Naguib.

At least 21 persons were reported killed, including the British police commander, Col. H. S. McGuigan, and six of his men. More than 100 persons were wounded, 30 of them critically. Authoritative sources reported the Sudanese police chief, Brig. Martada el Mahdi, among the victims.

The clash came after more than 30,000 demonstrators agitating for and against Naguib massed in the capital. Members of the pro-independence Umma party, brandishing spears and shouting anti-British and anti-Egyptian slogans, marched on the home of Governor-General Sir Robert Howe, where Naguib was being entertained after his arrival by plane from Cairo.

SEVEN SPEARED TO DEATH

Sudanese police, under British officers, first tossed tear gas grenades at the pressing crowd and then opened fire when the tribesmen charged with outthrust spears. The seven slain policemen fell before the spear charge.

Naguib came here with Egyptian Guidance Minister Slah Salem for the inaugural session today of the Sudan's first parliament. After the fighting, the governor-general announced the ceremony would be postponed indefinitely. Salem was one of the men who helped engineer Naguib's ouster last week.

The police bullets sent the tribesmen, who had marched under waving red and green banners bearing the white crescent of Umma, fleeing for shelter. Hundreds barricaded themselves behind the iron fence surrounding the home of Sir Sayed Abdel Rahman El Mahdi, leader of the Umma party and head of the Ansari Moslem religious sect.

The government declared a state of emergency in the tense city as ambulances carried the victims of the clash to hospitals. With army jeeps and trucks patrolling the streets, the government also served an ultimatum on El Mahdi that he send his supporters out of Khartoum before dark or be held responsible for the consequences.

Atassy, 80, Restored As Syrian Leader

DAMASCUS, Syria (UP) — Eighty-year-old Hasham El Atassy entered this ancient capital in triumph as president today after new riots which raised the toll in five days of revolution to at least 12 killed.

Restored to the leadership from which he had been ousted in 1951, Atassy rode into Damascus at the head of a long procession of automobiles carrying leaders of the revolt that threw out dictator Adib Shishekly.

It was expected that Atassy would announce a new government this afternoon.

Atassy came from the provincial city of Homs, 90 miles north of Damascus, where he had forged an uneasy truce between the army rebels who ousted Shishekly and supporters of the dictator, now a refugee in Saudi Arabia.

The new president was welcomed at the city gates by the mayor and government and army leaders.

Big crowds welcomed him with posters proclaiming their loyalty. Damascus was calm but tense.

Balcombe to Appeal

MLAs To Hear Dobeson Story

Sask. Mother Kills 3 in Family, Suicides

Husband, Son, Daughter All Die In Prairie Farmhouse Tragedy

ROCANVILLE, Sask. (CP)—A triple murder and suicide were reported by RCMP today in this border town 123 miles east of Regina.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Effie M. Hewitt, 49; her husband, Cyrus; a son, Basil, 19, and a daughter, Elaine, 15. Another daughter, Carol, 12, was slightly wounded.

RCMP said Mrs. Hewitt shot other members of the family and then turned the gun on herself.

RCMP said Carol, after being wounded, was kept by her mother in the Hewitt home all night and then ordered to notify the neighbors this morning.

The girl said she heard a shot when she was about 100 yards from the house. Neighbors found the four dead persons sprawled throughout the home.

MLAs Petition For Increase In Indemnity

Despite the fact Premier W. A. C. Bennett said today there will be no boost in sessional indemnities paid MLAs, there are "plenty of signatures" on a petition which has been circulating in the Legislative buildings asking an increase.

This was revealed today by a Socred MLA, who said "I did not sign it, but there are plenty who have."

The five-man Liberal bloc said they had not seen the petition, which asks that indemnities be jumped from $3,000 to $5,000, but CCF and Socred signatures are said to be numerous. The lone Conservative, Dr. Larry Giovando, is also reported to have signed.

Before the session Premier Bennett hinted indemnities were too low for work and sacrifice involved for MLA's who must leave business and jobs to attend sessions.

But he didn't say pay hikes were being considered—at least at present.

KEEP RED CROSS READY THEME OF 800 WORKERS

Symbol of preparedness, of mercy and goodwill—a blood red cross on a pure white field—was run up the Causeway flagstaff this morning in a simple, brief ceremony.

And as the flag of the Canadian Red Cross unfurled over Victoria at 9 a.m., 800 volunteer canvassers stepped out in a month-long drive to collect $72,000 under the slogan, "Keep Your Red Cross Ready." (See story, Page 13).

Nehru Orders U.S. Out of Kashmir

Angry Indian Leader Rejects U.S. Aid; 'Contrary to Principles of UN Charter'

NEW DELHI, India (UP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru today demanded angrily that American observers get out of disputed Kashmir, and attacked the United States for making alliances which he said bypassed the United Nations.

Nehru's ire was aroused by the United States agreement to extend military aid to India's neighbor, Pakistan.

The Indian prime minister bluntly rejected President Dwigh D. Eisenhower's offer of similar arms aid to India. He said it was an invitation to Indians to be "hypocrites and unprincipled opportunists."

He told a cheering session of parliament that if India objects to extension of U.S. arms aid to Pakistan, she cannot accept such aid for herself.

Nehru said he personally doubted whether such regional military alliances conform to the United Nations charter.

"These separate talks between countries are in the nature of military alliances," Nehru said. "It is up to us to consider how much they are in consonance with the spirit of the United Nations charter . . .

"That, I submit, is not the way either to work the United Nations or fulfill the purposes of the charter or remove tensions in world."

DST STARTS APRIL 25

Government order-in-council today set the beginning of daylight saving time for 1954 at midnight April 25. It will end at midnight, Sept. 26.

Russia Scores Third Ice Victory

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Canada took a 3-0 lead over Sweden at the end of the first period of their world hockey tournament match tonight. Both teams went into the game undefeated after two starts.

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Russia remained unbeaten by defeating Germany 6-2 in the world hockey championships today. The Russian team, Moscow Dynamos, now has a 3-0 record in the round-robin, eight-team tournament.

Czechoslovakia, which has also won three and lost none, previously had beaten the Germans 9-4. The Czechs today swamped Finland 12-1.

For two periods today the Russian-German game was extremely close. The Dynamos had a 1-0 lead in the first period and made it 2-1 in the second, 4-1 in the third period.

Canada was to face Sweden tonight in the other match scheduled today.

Two easy week-end victories boosted Toronto East York's stock against Sweden's defending champions, who didn't have to face Canadian, Czech or Russian opposition in winning last year's title.

U.S. Starts Series of Atomic Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said today an atomic device has been detonated at its proving ground in the Marshall Islands.

AEC chairman Lewis L. Strauss said the detonation was the first in a series of tests.

Only that much information was contained in the AEC's brief announcement which confirmed the start of a series of tests expected to include dentonation of an H-bomb.

Strikes, Polio, 'Quakes Mar Queen's Visit

MELBOURNE, Australia (UP) — Queen Elizabeth went to the opera tonight as a trio of troubles threatened to mar her tour of Australia.

1. Striking dockworkers here refused to unload any of the ships in Melbourne harbor, including the royal liner Gothic, which an economy-minded British government loaded with automobiles, hand-operated fire pumps and other cargo for the trip to Australia.

2. An earth-tremor rocked but did not damage the city of Adelaide, which the Queen is scheduled to visit in two weeks, and geologists said another tremor was likely "soon."

3. Authorities in western Australia pondered whether to cancel five large gatherings of schoolchildren scheduled to greet the Queen because of a polio outbreak in the state.

Two Seriously Hurt; Police Arrest Three

WASHINGTON (UP)—A girl shouting "Free Puerto Rico" and two men opened fire with pistols on Congressmen in the House of Representatives chamber today and and wounded five.

The following members of the house were wounded:

Rep. George H. Fallon (D., Md.).

Rep. Ben F. Jensen (R., A. shot in the back.

Rep. Alvin M. Bently (R., Mich.) shot in the chest.

Rep. Clifford Davis (D. Tenn.) shot in the calf of the left leg.

Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D., Ala.) shot in the leg.

The three assailants — who identified themselves as Puerto Ricans—fired from a public gallery overlooking the chamber.

The woman shouted:

"Free Puerto Rico."

Some members dropped to the floor or ducked behind chairs as the fusillade—described by one as sounding like the popping of a string of firecrackers—rang out.

Five members were hit as an estimated 20 shots were fired.

Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R., Pa.) wrestled a pistol away from one of the assailants as he attempted to reload. Then all three were quickly grabbed by Capitol police, turned over to Washington, D.C., police and hustled to local police headquarters.

The girl identified herself as Lolita Lee Bron and said she and her two men companions were Puerto Ricans. One of them said his name was Rafael Cancel and said he came from Puerto Rico.

The office of Puerto Rican commissioner Antonio Fernos-Isern said it could not immediately identify either of the two names.

The shootings recalled the attempted assination of former President Truman on Nov. 1, 1950, when two Puerto Rican nationalists tried to storm Blair House where Mr. Truman was living while the White House was being repaired. A White House guard was killed, one of the Puerto Ricans was slain, and the second, Oscar Collazo, was tried and sentenced to death. Mr. Truman later commuted the sentence to life imprisonment.

Woman Shouts 'Free Puerto Rico'

The marksmen rose in their seats as Speaker Joseph Martin was counting a division vote on a bill to admit Mexican laborers to this country.

The woman shouted, "Free Puerto Rico!"

Then they turned loose with what Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) described as German automatics.

Members dived for the floor. Several fell wounded.

Most members temporarily seemed stunned, as if in disbelief. Some thought the blasts were blanks.

Only as they saw the wounded fall to the floor, blood spurting from their wounds, did they realize what had happened.

Van Zandt estimated there were 25 or 30 shots. Others thought there were fewer.

Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala.) also was shot in the leg. He was carried from the building apparently in great pain and was taken to a hospital.

Jensen, bleeding from the back was taken to the speaker's lobby off the chamber and was placed on the floor until a stretcher could be brought.

Bentley was hit in the chest and apparently was in serious condition.

Van Zandt ran up the stairs to the gallery. He said he grabbed one of the young Puerto Ricans as he sought to reload his gun. Van Zandt said he seized the gun and turned the marksman over to capitol police.

Dr. George Calver, Capitol physician, reached the floor only a few minutes after the shooting began. His assistants, already were on the job.

House Speaker Joseph W.

EYEWITNESS SAW 'JAGGED HOLE'

'I Thought They Were Blanks —Then I Hit the Deck'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here is Washington Representative Don Magnuson's account of the shooting in the House of Representatives today, as telephone to the Seattle Times.

BY DON MAGNUSON
Congressman-at-Large

WASHINGTON—I thought they were firing blanks until I saw a jagged hole suddenly open in the ceiling of the House Chamber. Then I hit the deck.

A moment later the shooting stopped, and the would-be assassins were seized by guards and dragged from the gallery.

It happened that I was facing the corner of the gallery in which the shooting occurred.

I heard a shot. When I looked up that way I saw two men and a woman brandishing revolvers and firing at the floor of the House.

At the same time, they were screeching something in a foreign tongue. The shots came in such rapid-fire order that at first I thought someone had set off a string of firecrackers.

Then I saw flames streaking from the muzzles of the revolvers, and saw where one bullet hit the ceiling.

I suddenly realized that it was the real thing, and threw myself to the floor, thus gaining the protection of the row of seats in front of me.

Many of the members near me stayed in their seats, or on their feet, throughout the entire fusilade.

Apparently they believed, as I did, that blanks were being fired.

As soon as the shooting stopped and I got back on my feet, I discovered my friend Kenneth Roberts, of Alabama, lying wounded on the floor. He had fallen down between two rows of seats.

Roberts was pale and all but unconscious, and blood was soaking his trousers from a wound in the side.

Two or three of us got a necktie around his leg for a tourniquet.

The big chamber buzzed with outraged comment, as members of the House attempted to help their stricken colleagues.

It seems very obvious that security measures surrounding the Congress are inadequate, and I would venture this: In the future there will be a lot better screening of people seeking admission to the galleries.

CHAMP UNAWARE OF DISASTER

Marciano Sleeps As 7 Die in Fire

LIBERTY, N.Y. (UP)—Investigators poked through charred ruins today to determine the cause of a flash fire that killed seven persons and burned or injured 26 others in the wooden employees' quarters at the Grossinger Hotel, famed Catskill mountain resort.

The flames demolished the three-story frame building early Sunday while the resort's 900 guests, including heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and his family, continued to sleep, unaware of the disaster.

Fire chief Dewey Borden of Liberty said the fire apparently started in an entry-way and spread up the stairway, cutting off escape of 65 employees sleeping in the building. Damage was estimated at $30,000.

The seven who died were trapped in rooms near the third floor landing. The rest of the occupants leaped from the burning building in their nightclothes.

Marciano, here to train for his next championship bout June 17, his infant daughter and his mother, Lena, slept through the commotion. Few of the guests occupying 20 buildings scattered over the 750-acre resort said they heard anything. Most of them are here for winter sports.

Montreal Firm Offers Vessel For Fire Boat

A Montreal firm of naval architects and marine surveyors has written City Council, offering a fire boat for sale.

The firm, Milne, Gilmore and German, says it has heard Victoria is in the market for a fire-boat and believes the 117-foot, steel-hulled James Battle would fit the bill.

THEY STILL SAY 'NYET'

Shipwrecked Russians Refuse To Be Rescued

LERWICK, Shetland Island (AP)—The Russians said "no" again today, this time to an offer to take them off a grounded trawler in a gale-lashed cove.

The 19-man local life saving crew, spray-soaked and tired, has been plying the Soviets with rescue offers since their trawler ran aground Sunday at Burra Firth, in the wild Shetland Islands.

All the life savers collected for their pains were vigorous head shakes from the Russians and one shouted word: "Nyet." So today they went home, leaving the trawler with waves crashing over her.

As the tide receded, coastguardsmen reported the trawler was deeply embedded in sand. They said only a salvage operation with tugs will refloat her. The trawler is one of a Russian fleet which has been herring fishing off the Shetlands.

Schofield Window Dedicated Sunday

Large Congregation Honors Memory of Bishop Who Saw Start of Christ Church Cathedral

By W. S. HENDERSON

A notable addition to Christ Church Cathedral was made Sunday, Quinquagesima, when a stained glass window in memory of Rt. Rev. C. D. Schofield was dedicated.

During mattins the large congregation stood in honor of the churchman in whose episcopate the erection of the cathedral was started 29 years ago, chiefly as a result of his efforts.

In brilliant colors, the window, in the southwest tower, shows the Fifth Bishop of British Columbia seated on the throne on which every successive bishop of this diocese has sat. Those who attended the cathedral while he was head of the church on Vancouver Island, from 1916 to 1936, see him as they so often did in his sacred ministry.

398-YEAR GAP

In its permanent position, the new window closes a 398-year historical gap in the cathedral glass. Among the figures of ecclesiastical history depicted is Archbishop Cramer, and between that date and Sunday no figure had been added.

The stained glass of Christ Church Cathedral is known to bishops, clergy and laymen from coast to coast as the finest in Canada.

Following the hymn "For All the Saints for Whom Their Labors Rest," and immediately preceeding the sermon, the archbishop, dean, canons and other clergy moved in procession to the South West tower.

There Mrs. Schofield unveiled the new window and the archbishop read the dedication service.

There are still seven windows on the ground level of the two towers which lack memorial windows. It is expected in cathedral circles that in time, these will be filled with stained glass, further beautifying the edifice as the glass already in place mellows with age.

NINE DIED IN WYOMING PLANE CRASH

NEWCASTLE, Wyo. (AP) —All nine persons aboard a Western Air Lines plane missing since Friday were found dead today when a search party reached the wreckage in the rugged "breaks" of the Rochelle hills.

The plane crashed in snow-covered country about 40 miles southwest of Newcastle in the oil and cattle area of northeastern Wyoming.

State highway patrolman George Wilcox notified the sheriff's iffice by radio that the four women and five men aboard the craft had perished.

Reds Cleared From Around Laos Capital

SAIGON, Indo-China (UP)—French pilots, blasting retreating Communists with American-built fighter-bombers, reported today the jungles north of the Laotian capital of Luang Prabang were almost clear of rebel forces.

Ground patrols probed beyond the Mekong River past Pak Hou, 18 miles north of the royal capital, and dug out nests of Reds left behind in the flight. Other patrols pushed out to Lathane, 27 miles to the north, and toward the Nam Khan River.

French sources said Communist resistance was light. They said most of the Red guerrillas who infested the area two weeks ago were fleeing the region to link up with the 308th Communist division beyond the Nam Bac River, 60 miles north of Luang Prabang.

French pilots flying U.S. supplied B-26 bombers and Bearcat fighter-bombers, reported the area around Muong Sai, 58 miles north of Luang Prabang, almost clear of Red forces. The French were concentrating on Red stragglers and supply bases.

Kenora Thistles on Junket to Japan

KENORA, Ont. (BUP) — A Canadian hockey team headed for Japan today for the first time since before the Second World War.

Members of the Kenora Thistles team, last year's Western Canada intermediate champions, left here for the west coast Saturday and were scheduled to sail from Vancouver Wednesday.

Playing coach Don (Spike) Robertson, a CPR trainman, is the only member of the team who has already crossed the Pacific Ocean. He played hockey in Australia for 18 months just before the last war.

He said 14 players would be making the trip along with Richard Dixon, a member of the club executive.

The nine-game exhibition tour was jointly sponsored by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the Japanese Ice Skating Association.

IN THE COMMONS

Anti-Depression Lobby Moves in

(From CP and BUP Dispatches)

OTTAWA—A 150-member delegation from the left-wing United Electrical Workers (Ind.), today staged an "anti-depression" lobby on Parliament Hill.

Representatives of the 25,000-member union, meeting with individual members of Parliament and groups from different parties, submitted a 21-point program aimed at boosting employment and easing distress among those out of work.

The union's memorandum said there is "a crisis in unemployment and a grave danger of economic depression. It said the attitude of government spokesmen in the situation is "alarming."

"There is no evidence of any constructive consideration having been given to the obvious need for policies and legislation action to meet a condition of mass unemployment," said the memorandum drafted at a week-end meeting here of the UEW's Canadia; district council.

No. 1 item in the union's program was for "a new trade policy based on winning back Commonwealth markets and removing barriers to trade with Russia, China and other countries which are prepared to trade with Canada."

SUGGEST DELEGATIONS

The union suggested trade delegations be sent to all these countries with authority to conclude agreements on the basis of mutual advantage.

Other "full employment" measures:

1. Development of new industries to process in Canada the greatest possible amount of Canadian raw materials.

2. More legislation protection against "dumping" of foreign goods, particularly from the United States.

3. The government should "build, not destroy." Canada's merchant marine fleet.

Meanwhile, the Commons' debate on unemployment headed toward an end foday and a vote on an opposition motion of non confidence in the government.

Today marked the sixth day of debate on the question of the government's handling of the unemployment situation. The issue was raised February 15 by Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quadra) and John Diefenbaker (PC - Prince Albert).

GREATER RESTRAINT?

McCarthy Opens New Army Security Probe

ROBERT STEVENS
. . . tamed McCarthy?

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy opened new hearings on army security today with Republican Sen. Karl E. Mundt predicting he will show "greater restraint" in questioning witnesses from now on.

McCarthy summoned his investigating subcommittee into closed session while the repercussions from his feud with Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens were still buffeting the Republican party and the administration.

The Wisconsin Republican said Ptes. Marvin Belski, New York; Sid Rubenstein, Fort Banks, Winthrop, Mass., and "probably" a major would be questioned about army loyalty oaths.

Belski was identified as a physician serving as an enlisted man in a Waltham, Mass., army hospital because he refused to sign a loyalty oath. A Sidney Rubenstein of New York was discharged from Fort Banks two weeks ago but said he was not summoned before the subcommittee and that he had signed the oath.

Mundt, second-ranking Republican on the subcommittee, said in an interview that he is confident the kind of "irritations" that devolep during McCarthy's recent one-man questioning of Brig.-Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker "will not be repeated." It was Stevens' charge that Zwicker was "abused and humiliated" that led to the McCarthy-Stevens blowup.

Airlines Pilot, 6 Fishermen Nearly Drown

Rescued in Four Separate Accidents

From CP, BUP Dispatches

VANCOUVER — Roland Pare, pilot for British Columbia Airlines, was pulled from the water at Eliford Bay Sunday, after his de Havilland Beaver aircraft sank on landing at the Queen Charlotte Islands Point.

Pare was picked up unhurt by the seiner Western Girl. Officials said the plane was slowing down when one of its pontoons struck a dead-head and sank in about 25 feet of water. The aircraft was recovered at low tide.

"NO FUTURE"

Five lower mainland fishermen narrowly escaped drowning during the week-end — two in the Capilano River, three in upper Burrard Inlet, and a 14-year-old boy at Haney.

Harry Boleen and James Whitehurst were swept downstream in the boiling Capilano River. They reached land at the base of a 60-foot cliff. Boleen finally managed to climb the canyon wall and summoned help from a nearby house for his companion.

In another fishing mishap, Gerald Lewis, his brother Kenneth, and Tony Wallsmith, all of Port Moody, were dumped into Burrard Inlet when their boat capsized. They managed to cling to the overturned craft while Port Moody police raced by car to an oil dock where they knew there was another boat.

Jim Fordham, 14, of Haney, B.C., was fishing when he slipped from the bank of Davidson's pool near his home and plunged into the water. Arn Anderson, a companion, pulled him out.

RUGGED COAST

The irregular coastline of Newfoundland is studded with rocky cliffs rising from 200 to 400 feet.

Roles Switched and Reswitched

Egypt's Mohammed Naguib (left), resigned as president and was succeeded by Gamal Abdel-Nasser (right), Egypt's "real strong man" and prime minister. Not for long, however, for threats of civil war and wild demonstrations by the populace soon prevailed upon the National Revolutionary Council to bring Naguib back in the name of "national unity." Gamal Abdel-Nasser stepped down to his former post.

Floating Dice Game Raided At Burnaby

VANCOUVER (CP)—A floating dice game, in which police estimated $10,000 had changed hands during the night, was raided here early Sunday by a mobile detail, date vice squad, RCMP officers.

Two men were arrested and charged with keeping a betting house and later released on $200 bail. Fourteen others were booked as inmates and freed on $25 bail.

The raid was conducted on a suburban Burnaby home and was the third such strike by police within the last four weeks. An expensive dice table, the second to be picked up since the raids began Feb. 2, was seized at the Burnaby residence.

Stevens, McCarthy To Meet at Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army Secretary Robert Stevens and Senator Joseph McCarthy finally will have a face-to-face meeting on the issue of Communism in the army.

McCarthy announced today that the man with whom he has been feuding hotly over the question of whether army officers have been abused will appear before the Senate investigations sub-committee either next Thursday or the following Monday.

McCarthy said the meeting will be behind closed doors unless Stevens prefers otherwise.

Car Kills Surrey Man

SURREY, B.C. (CP)—A pedestrian, killed Saturday night while crossing the Trans-Canada Highway near here, was identified by RCMP Sunday as Joseph E. Black, 65.

Name of an elderly companion, who suffered two broken legs in the crash, still was withheld by police. He was reported in poor condition.

FAMILY OF 11 LOSE HOME WHILE ATTENDING CHURCH

RICHMOND, B.C. (CP)—Fire destroyed the home of a family of 11 in the Delta district near here while the family was attending church services Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kennedy and their nine children lost all their personal belongings in the blaze which is believed to have been caused by an overheated stove. The house was not insured.

'COULDN'T STAND IT ANY LONGER'

Girl's Father Charged With Killing Suitor

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn. (CP)—A 73-year-old man is being held by police here in connection with the fatal shooting of his former son-in-law.

Charles Heath, 22, of South International Falls was shot to death Friday night.

Police at the town across the border from Fort Frances, Ont., said they are holding his father-in-law, Dave Grondin, at whose home the shooting took place.

Police said Grondin admitted he had shot Heath because "I couldn't stand the abuse any longer."

Heath allegedly had been ordered by authorities at International Falls not to enter the Grondin home again after he had persistently bothered them in an attempt to win back their 19-year-old daughter, Loretta, who had obtained a divorce from Heath February 18.

Grondin told police that Heath had subjected him and his crippled 68-year-old wife to a long series of abuse and threats.

Grondin said Heath once more forced his way into the home Friday night. An argument flared up, ending in the shooting, he said.

76-YEAR-OLD VANCOUVER'S 23RD GASSING

VANCOUVER (CP) — Domestic gas claimed its 23rd victim of 1954 here Sunday when Barclay Montgomery, 76, was found overcome by the deadly fumes.

A milkman, making deliveries to the apartment where Montgomery lived, smelled gas and notified the proprietor.

Police said Montgomery was found sitting in a corner of his suite, a gas jet on a heater across the room partially open. Police said a small leak discovered in the gas line probably made Montgomery insensitive to the smell of gas over a period of time.

Chamber Asks Grant For Research Work

Victoria Chamber of Commerce has applied to the city for $2,000 grant to help defray the cost of its industrial research work during 1954.

Such a grant was made by the City Council in 1952 and 1953.

The request was forwarded to council from H. L. Crombie, managing secretary of the chamber.

Commission to Visit N.Y. In Baby Traffic Probe

MONTREAL (BUP)—A rogatory commission, which will take evidence from 66 witnesses on alleged trafficing in babies is expected to open hearings in New York later this week, officials said today.

No date had been set for the opening of the hearings, but the commission will travel to New York "as soon as arrangements are completed," a court official stated. It will be headed by Judge Gerald Almond of Sessions Court, who was appointed last week by Chief Justice W. B. Scott.

The commission will hear evidence concerning cases against Montreal lawyers Herman Buller and Louis Glazer who were arrested in connection with what police called an international black market in babies. Buller was charged with five specific offenses and Glazer with six, and prosecutions are pending for conspiracy, forgery and uttering.

Police claimed the attorneys helped New York couples obtain the babies of unwed Quebec mothers by falsifying birth certificates.

Senior crown prosecutor George W. Hill said 54 witnesses were needed in the cases against Buller and 12 against Glazer. All lived in and about New York city, he added, but he refused to devulge their names.

A Dangerous Weapon

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT's so-called anti-dumping law was introduced in Parliament as a measure designed entirely or mainly to save the Canadian textile industry from unfair competition. Now it turns out, as expected, that the law has a much wider application. It is to be used to discourage the importation of low-priced American refrigerators, stoves, vacuum cleaners and other household goods. All manufactured articles come within its scope and the department of national revenue apparently intends to use it widely.

The only excuse offered for the law in the first place—a law conflicting with the past policy of all Liberal Governments—was that it would cure a very special dilemma in the Canadian textile industry.

The huge American textile industry is in the habit of charging a relatively high price for its products at the beginning of a style cycle and then cutting them drastically later on when styles change. The cheaper prices naturally are offered to Canadian importers and in turn to the Canadian housewife.

By no recognized definition could this be called dumping. By all previous definitions dumping occurs only when an exporter sells goods in a foreign country below the fair market value in the country of origin. The American textiles sold to Canada carried the same prices charged in the United States, plus customs duties. They were not sold below a fair market value in the United States.

However, the Canadian Government believed that the textile industry could not survive the seasonal price-cutting practices of the United States and perhaps a convincing argument could be made for that proposition, at least in the case of some obsolete and high-cost Canadian textile mills. But no case can be made, certainly by Liberal principles, for the constitutional method of regulation set up under the new law.

It enables the minister of national revenue to fix tariffs exactly as he chooses, without any effective limitation on his power. He can calculate the average price of American textiles over a style season and then charge duties on the figure thus arbitrarily arrived at.

Even if that were a sound method in itself, there can never be an accurate calculation of the average price.

For example, a woman's dress may be sold in New York in January for $100. By September some obscure merchant in Sacramento may be selling the same dress for $50. The average price would then be reckoned at $75 and Canadian duties charged accordingly.

But, beyond the possible knowledge of the Canadian Government some other merchants in remote places may be selling the dress for $30 to unload it. Prices vary so much in a competitive economy that no one can possibly reckon a true average. Nevertheless, the minister's word is law. Whatever price he fixes, without any limitation on his power or any chance of appeal, is the legal price for customs purposes. Parliament, in fact, has abdicated its primary right to fix the tariff and levy taxes.

Such a reversal of Liberal policies and parliamentary rights could not be justified, of course, on grounds of principle and the Government has hardly tried to justify it. The new law might be excused only as a disagreeable necessity for the sake of a textile industry in serious trouble. Now the Government is preparing to apply it to many other things and soon may be applying it to all manufactured articles, to prevent Canadian consumers securing the advantages of price reductions in the United States.

This form of protection is to be enforced not merely by holding up prices but by directly discouraging imports. The Canadian importer can never know, under the new law, what tariff he must pay. He buys a quantity of American or other foreign goods today and is charged a certain duty. Six months later the minister of national revenue can descend upon him, without warning, and demand a higher duty, based on a theoretical average price in the United States.

In this state of uncertainty, in business which turns on a narrow profit margin, the importer often will be afraid to buy lest his profit be turned into a loss by the arbitrary and delayed intervention of the Government.

We do not believe that the Government has any serious intention of raising tariffs generally or reversing its policy of maximum trade. It may not abuse its new and unlimited powers. They are there, however, for the use of this or some other Government in the future and they are too dangerous to be left on the statute books. If the Government intends to adhere to its new policy at least it should provide some system of appeal by which an aggrieved importer, like an income taxpayer, can appeal the arbitrary decisions of a single cabinet minister. It would be sounder and safer to repeal the new law altogether and leave tariff fixing to Parliament where it belongs.

The Atom Could Bring Reprieve

THE RECENT STATEMENT OF Dr. Gordon Shrum, that Ontario will be producing electric power from atomic energy within the next five years, should be marked well by those who insist that Buttle Lake must be dammed to provide more power for Vancouver Island.

The noted head of the physics department at UBC observed that both Ontario and Quebec have developed practically all their water power and that the atom is the answer to further expansion.

Why cannot this solution be applied to Vancouver Island before, rather than after, Buttle Lake has been ruined as a hikers' and tourists' attraction?

Atomic energy means that "you can have Niagara Falls in any part of the world," Dr. Shrum points out. He said that the cost of power so produced will compare favorably with that from hydro development.

With such prospects on the verge of realization, will the Buttle Lake dam become known to future generations as a monument to shortsightedness?

Where Were the Roads Built?

THE EBULLIENT ENTHUSIASM of Hon. P. A. Gaglardi for the efficiency of the Public Works Department under the direction of the Social Credit administration and Mr. Gaglardi, is universally apparent. The gentleman is pleased, well pleased. He wants his associates to be the same and he wants them to show it.

His attitude may be more widely appreciated when and if the Legislature undertakes committee study of those benefits which Mr. Gaglardi implies have been brought to road construction here. Neither the minister nor the premier, he says, have imputed "motives" to the previous administration in their comments on the difference between road-building costs. They merely view as "interesting" the contention that the construction bill is now 25 per cent below what it was. This is excellent, if it means what it appears to mean.

But where and how were the roads built under the respective regimes? Mr. Gaglardi would be the last to suggest that he or the Government was entitled to applause for producing roads over flat, easily-developed ground at 25 per cent less than was paid for construction of highways in mountainous territory.

The inquiry called for by Mr. Laing, the Liberal leader, should be undertaken. Then the public of British Columbia may become as ebulliently enthusiastic as Mr. Gaglardi over the issue.

Say, Chaps, Who's for Tennis?

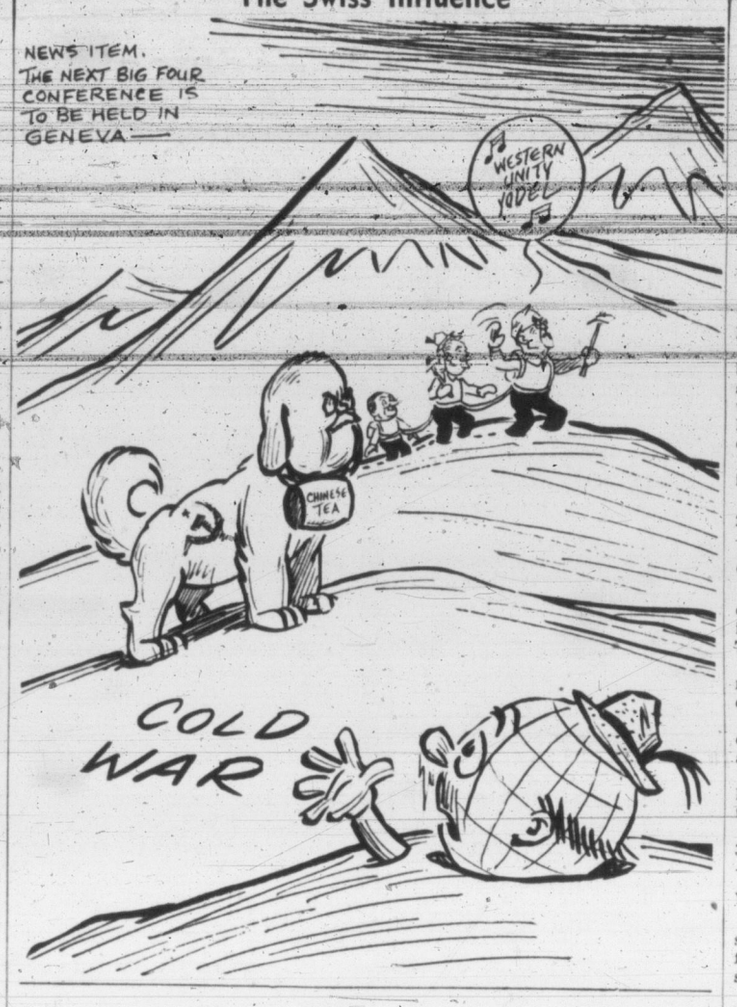
LAST YEAR A VISITING EUROpean tennis player walked out of a California tournament because he felt his American opponent was so anxious to win that his conduct violated the spirit of the game.

Recent news from New York indicates that some former members of the United States Davis Cup team, defeated by the Australians, would like to withdraw from the international competition because they don't like the treatment they receive "down under."

Earlier, tennis enthusiasts to the south had considered changing existing rules to permit higher compensation for amateur play.

The whole issue is not as mystifying as it may seem. But it does throw into peculiar light certain dictionary definitions which are accepted by lexicographers. For instance, Funk & Wagnalls still describes "sport" as "that which amuses in general; diversion; pastime; fun; as, an act or spirit of sport."

The Swiss Influence



Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

IN a mainland paper I saw a helpful hint on Gracious Living. The heading says "Black Gives Dinner Table Dramatic Air." Yes. I suppose black gives many things a dramatic air . . . a hearse or a judge's black cap, for example, or a headsman's hood. Or the black lace bathing suit of a Russian girl who was after me when I was sixteen. I was anything but an attractive youth. But anything male was useful to this black leopard from the Caucasus. And my tender years and my almost psychopathic shyness made me highly amusing to the hussy. Anyhow, all I started to say was that her black lace bathing suit was very dramatic indeed. Or melodramatic. She wore it in the Crystal Garden here in Victoria and was told by the management to take it off. "What, and swim naked?" said the incredulous Tartar princess.

Brock

ALL the latest dinners in Paris (says the article) have more than a touch of black. A black tablecloth, or a black lace shawl spread over a white cloth, or black glasses, candles, or crockery. "Plain white dishes will have a real air to them if set on a black cloth." I fancy there is something pretty decadent about getting excited over black. I know I was sharply criticized for wearing a black tie at my own wedding . . . though I didn't choose it as anything symbolic, so help me, but only because it happened to be the sole tie on hand which went with my only possible shirt and only respectable gents' suiting. And besides, I was in Such a State, I didn't know what I was doing, really.

I MYSELF have dined off tables black with ashes, and narry a thrill did I get. And I have sat across from men with black fingernails without improving my appetite. I have eaten black puddings without yelling "Whee, one night in Paris!" And I have escorted a lady or two with a black neck . . . well, grey . . . without thinking to myself that it gave her white nose a real air. But perhaps I have no eye for color.

THE TRAINED EYE

TALKING of having an eye for art, I was delighted to read another artistic note from the mainland. A young hoodlum of 18, with a long record of trouble, was sent to the penitentiary last month. He was charged with three armed robberies and 17 burglaries, though I don't know how many of these charges came to trial. Well, a probation report said that he was mainly interested in "dames," and he was frightfully indignant. He said this was a lie. "I am mainly interested in Art," he said.

What fascinating pictures (art again) this conjures up. I can imagine a stick-up man looking at a twenty-dollar bill in the till and saying "It's pretty but is it art?" Or a burglar making a dramatic entrance through a window, and reminding himself that one's first entrance in Act One is all-important to a star.

I WAS reminded, too, of a trial long ago, in the Kootenay. A man was charged with some mining fraud or other. Salting a mine, I think. His partner was called to testify for the defense, and suddenly the judge said "Why, you're in this thing up to the neck yourself. You should be in the dock with the prisoner."

"Ah, no, my lord," said the partner. "I did everything I could to persuade my poor partner to drop the whole affair, lest vile suspicious fall upon him."

"And what did you do, exactly?" said the judge.

"As I say, my lord, I did everything. Everything in my power."

"Tell us what you did."

"I spoke to him frankly, my lord. Like a brother. A big brother."

"Oh, for heaven's sake, man, get on with it. What did you say to the accused?"

"I went straight up to him, my lord. And I said 'Bert,' I said, 'you're a clever son of a so-and-so, Bert. But this thing's too crude entirely,' I said."

PROGRESS

IN SOME ways I think the world grows crueler, in spite of all our sob-stuff. But in many ways we are still progressing, even if the word "progress" is now a bad joke. For example, look at the way certain big landowners used to hunt poachers less than 150 years ago. It is true that many a poacher was a dangerous thug who'd gladly murder the squire or his gamekeeper rather than get caught. As a result, a keeper had to be pretty quick on the draw, and tough-minded and ruthless. But it is also true that as the laws against poaching relaxed, poaching became less common.

IN a recent issue of Country Life I was reading about landowners who were using man-traps and spring-guns as late as 1825. Some of these rough old boys used to string huge fish-hooks through their pretty woodland glades, to catch human beings. (Did they gaff the man after hooking him?) And there was one old squire who wrote a book on the art of hunting strangers in your woods. He advised the gentle reader to try shooting poachers with a cannon loaded with a double handful of glass marbles. These do far less damage to the trees than either cannon-balls or grape-shot.

From Our Files

March 1, 1894—Victorians who have visited Vancouver say these hard times are making a wonderful change in prices there. One can get a satisfying meal on Cordova St. now for 5 cents and a new tweed suit for $11.

March 1, 1914—Word has been received of the purchase of the hulk of the famous old full-rigged ship Two Brothers by the CPR for use as a coal barge in the Gulf of Georgia, to replace the sunken Coronado.

March 1, 1934—Fish for a king, 335 pounds of it, worth over $80 at present prices, is now on view in Askey's Fish market. It was taken in the Fraser River. Mr. Askey says it is the largest sturgeon he has ever secured.

COST OF LIVING

So Finance Minister D. C. Abbott is unable to live on $18,000 a year. How on earth does he expect the poor, old, burnt-out pensioners, also the old age pensioners, to even exist, let alone live, on far less than $1,800 per year? Perhaps they are not supposed to live.

CULTURE OR GIN?

I read with amazement in the Times of last Saturday of the shocking lack of interest in the Arts Centre and the Totem Theatre.

One can only surmise that the recent report on alcoholism could suggest the cause.

The replacement of these centres of culture by fountains of gin playing in an Indian village seems indicated.

Could it be that the fountains of Rome burned while Nero fiddled with the books?

YOUTH AND DOUKHOBORS

Last Sunday evening, over a Seattle station, I heard a discussion, coming from the Victoria High School, in which students were participating.

One subject under discussion, was the Doukhobor question, and I was horrified to hear the reactionary, unsympathetic and undemocratic expressions of opinion that came from these Grade 10, 11 and 12 kids.

Some claimed that the Doukhobors had been given a chance to become Canadianized and as they had failed they "should be thrown out," and as one child put it "Where would they be thrown to?" . . . "another child, or teenager, perhaps one should say, seemed to think that these people "had not come to their senses" because they had not taken to Canadian ways!

Other ideas expressed were that the Doukhobors should be separated from their children, so that the children should learn "our ways." The youngsters who took such undemocratic views on this matter were hardly a good advertisement of "our ways!" Then several took the line that a "crack down" policy should be followed.

It was cheering to hear one or two offer rather more liberal ideas, such as the fact that to date the policies had failed and something else should be tried; that it was wrong to separate children from parents and that "cracking down" would do no good.

What struck me so forcibly was the contradictory statements of some of the kids. While advocating that fascistic policies be put into practice, they, at the same time deplored the fact that the Doukhobors had not learnt Canadian ways. They seemed to imply that to be otherwise here, they must be wrong.

Some of them talked glibly of democracy, let them learn how to tackle problems in a democratic manner.

A PLEA FOR SHELTER

This is an appeal to the good citizens of Victoria.

As you have seen in the papers that we Pensioners at 740 and 743 Johnson Street have to get out by March 31, 1954. I am asking on behalf of the above if you can do something for us. Mr. Ross has written to the City Hall and the Council for an extension of time but it of little use as it will be received and filed and that will be the last of it. As you know, this is the third time their place has been condemned and the city has been going to build some places every time, but have not done so.

If the veterans and all the social clubs and the ladies auxiliaries would get together I think we would get results as you know we cannot get any place for the rent we pay here ($10 per month). If we want board and room it will cost us $40 or $45 a month and I don't know where we could get that. As you know it takes us all our time to make ends meet as it is, and we don't want to be a burden on private people. We have lived so long by ourselves that we are used to it and want to carry on that way, then we don't trouble any one, so if you good citizens and social clubs would get together and do something for us we would be everlastingly grateful to you.

WILLIAM GEORGE LICKISS.
Pensioner, Room 8, 742 Johnson St.

THE QUEST FOR TRUTH

Referring to your first editorial on Saturday last. You there state that Mr. Arnold Webster said in the House that the quest for "whatsoever things are true" should be the principle of the educational system in B.C.

The book in which real truth is found is the Bible; therefore at least the New Testament should be studied in our schools. It should be treated as important, at the very least, as mathematics or social studies.

If we want to maintain our free society we must have more unselfishness, self-discipline and honesty. The New Testament teaches us how to obtain these virtues and to maintain them. Therefore it is vital to our national health that it should be studied in our schools.

Molotov's Ace of Trumps

BY WALTER LIPPMANN, From Washington

SINCE no issues of substance were settled at Berlin, or even negotiated seriously, the attempt to assess the effects of the meeting must be almost entirely guesswork. Speaking for the time being only of Europe, we know, for example, what in fact we knew before the meeting: that the principal powers are not now able to agree on the unification and military evacuation of Germany. But we do not know what the Germans will be thinking and saying when they realize that they are faced with the prospect of partition and occupation that have no visible end.

Lippmann

The meeting has, of course, raised a number of questions which are interesting and which may be important. One of them is why Mr. Molotov, who is opposed to the European Defense Community, talked so much and did so little—did nothing in fact—to compel the Western powers to negotiate with him about EDC and an alternative.

I find it difficult to share the opinion that Mr. Molotov's polite inactivity was imposed upon him by the unity of the three Western ministers. I am afraid I think that Mr. Molotov's refusal to make any serious proposals about Germany helped enormously to make it easy to preserve a united front against him.

And so we are left with the question of why he did not make any serious proposal, why he limited himself to shopworn proposals which he knew nobody would dream of accepting, would dream even of discussing.

FIRM DECISION

To answer this question we can at least begin with something that is positive and not really in doubt. It is that last summer the Soviet Government came to a firm decision that it could not and would not agree now to the military evacuation of Eastern Germany and of Austria.

We can, I think, be sure of that much. We can be fairly sure also that the decision became firm after the German uprising in June and the subsequent fall of Beria, and that it is connected with the revival of the political power and influence of the Red army. The basic decision to continue to occupy Germany and not to reunite it was already clearly indicated early last August in Malenkov's big speech.

Having decided against a military withdrawal, Mr. Molotov in Berlin was like a man who holds the ace of trumps but has decided that he cannot for the time being play it.

By the ace of trumps I am referring, of course, to the Soviet occupation of Eastern Germany and of the lost territories beyond the Oder-Neisse Line. Without a war that would destroy Germany the only way that Germany can be reunited and have again an acceptable eastern frontier is through agreement with the Soviet Union. The Western nations and Dr. Adenauer can propose German unification but the Russians have the physical power over the land which is needed to bring about German unification.

This much is hard fact. From it we may suppose that Mr. Molotov had no intention of trading his ace of trumps for an abandonment of EDC. He acted in Berlin, so it seemed to me, like a man who dislikes EDC very much but does not dislike it so much or fear it so much that he is prepared to give up anything substantial in order to persuade the Westerners to renounce it.

The occupation of Eastern Germany is a great and tangible asset now: the dangers of the Soviet Union from EDC and German rearmament are theoretical, and cannot become actual for a number of years, at the minimum three to four years. A lot could happen in Germany, in France and in Italy and elsewhere in the meantime.

GERMAN DEAL

My own guess is that when Western Germany has become stronger, when it has the military force to be the undisputed master of its own territory and therefore to conduct an independent foreign policy, Mr. Molotov has it in his mind to do what the Russians have so often done before: to make a deal with the Germans.

That might explain why he held on to the ace of trumps during the game he played at Berlin. He may have believed that he could use his trump much more effectively, much more decisively, when the time comes to deal directly with the Germans.

This might be dismissed as a too-Machiavellian view of Mr. Molotov but for the fact that Mr. Molotov himself did just that in 1939. He is a man in whom the grooves of habit, judging by how often he repeats himself without being bored, are deep and well worn. In 1939 he extricated himself—so he and Stalin believed at the time—from the threat of a Western combination against Russia which included Germany. It would be only prudent to suppose that, as he grows older, the patterns of his behavior are less likely to change.

IN THEIR POWER

I believe in a political system called democracy. Democracy is based on the will of the people, and people are naturally good and kindly and uncruel, and when they vary from that it's usually because of some over-riding outside influence, either political or economic. But, relying on this basic goodness, I believe that one day there will be peace on earth and that, with all their shortcomings, those nations who base their way of life on their own characters, who base it on the people, have it in their power to bring such peace about.

—G. R. Edwards talking on the BBC.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Some Call It 'Snoop-and-Tattle'

AN AMERICAN magazine of wide circulation quotes two interesting paragraphs from the New York Post of Feb. 2. They say:

Stott

"The secret committee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post here, whose alleged snoop-and-tattle Red hunting methods have created a national controversy, is now said to be non-existent."

(Post Commander Albert A. Beres . . . said: . . . "We're not looking for nobody. A man's got to make himself prominent in a subversive way before we'll do anything about him."

The same magazine (New Republic, Feb. 22) carries in its Washington commentary the statement:

"The fourth anniversary of McCarthy's charge that he had before him 'a list' of '205' State Department Communists shows no case ever proved."

These are words which you can, if you wish, dismiss with the sneer, "The New Republic? That's the magazine Henry Wallace edited, isn't it? Well, you know Henry Wallace." Or you can think over the quotations and remember that Henry Wallace is no longer connected with the New Republic. If you're cautious, maybe you'd better ignore the matter altogether. After all, the New Republic is liberal and in certain quarters "liberal" seems to be spelled "r-e-d." Why stick your neck out? You know what some people say about others whom they suspect of reading "red" opinion.

TIME TO STICK OUT NECKS

Just possibly you may feel that you ought to stick your neck out. Just possibly you're troubled by the local proposal to petition Parliament for a lead in exposing communism in Canada. Just possibly you recognize the probability that this will be called witch-hunting. Certainly the commies will call it that.

And just possibly you see what the schism between the commies and the most militant anti-communists is doing to your town. It's tending to create two extremes. Consciously or unconsciously, it is seeking to define in terms of black and white the opinion of the people. It's encouraging that unreasonable and preposterous argument, "If you're not for us, you're against us."

It's no time for the liberal to duck.

No honest Canadian wants to give aid and comfort to communism or treasonably support the overthrow of the country by force. But no honest Canadian wants to see innocent people crucified.

It is true that several of the people most interested in stamping out communism in a militant way here are moved by what they consider the highest of purposes. They believe they are doing the right thing for Canada in labeling other citizens as communists. They seem too little impressed by the fact that they are inclined to follow the very practices in their attack which makes communism evil.

HELPING THE KREMLIN

And as they develop dissension on the local scene, they are playing right into the hands of the Kremlin. When they succeed in breaking up unity, in destroying confidence, in ignoring the democratic processes, their arch-enemy in Moscow sits back and laughs.

However sincere they consider their motives in launching a petition to Parliament for a lead in identifying communists and exposing them in Canadian communities, they are creating their own particular Frankenstein monster.

They can't hope to avoid labeling as Typhoid Marys some people who are not infected. And, when they ask for names, they are inviting retaliation in a census of the witch-hunters.

They are, however, protected from doing irreparable damage to a broad and innocent section of the community. They at least request Parliament for a lead. In Ottawa a reaction may be expected comparable to that which greeted the unfortunate attitude of some Victorians to the library.

Let's grow up.

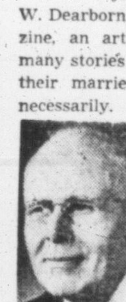
YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Don't Hurt Your Love

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

I have just read a fine article by Lester W. Dearborn, in the January American Magazine, an article which brings to my mind many stories told me by patients who wrecked their married happiness by confessing unnecessarily. On their honeymoon they told the loved one about their previous sexual adventures, and then wondered why the spouse went to pieces nervously.



Dr. Alvarez

I remember a number of brides who, shortly after the honeymoon, became ill and started on a series of pelvic operations which did not relieve their symptoms. When I saw them, I soon drew out the story that they had become badly upset when the bridegroom, probably thinking that his new wife was a "good scout" who would not be prudish, started relating in details his former sexual misdoings.

Two men were tactless enough to tell of their affairs carried out in the very hotel chosen for the honeymoon, and, as a result, the poor bride never got over her mental distress. In another case the bridegroom told of so many of his escapades that the little wife couldn't "take it." She became so mentally upset that she broke down nervously and went into an asylum. When she came out, she sued for divorce.

Last week I saw an engaged couple evidently much in love, but I fear unable to marry, because the girl, having wanted to get everything off her conscience, had told her beau the details of an affair which had carried her off her feet when she was in high school. It is probable that a sane, well-balanced man, and one who had had a past himself, could have accepted this confession without much difficulty. He might have said to himself, "Who am I to be demanding virginity?" But this girl's beau was a worry-wart, a brooder, and a man without a wonderful imagination. It was so good that it enabled him in his mind's eye to keep seeing his beloved in the arms of another man. He was anxious to marry the girl, but he realized that if he did, he'd never be happy. I had to agree with him that if he could not banish his obsession, he would not only remain utterly miserable, but he'd soon make a nervous wreck out of the poor girl.

Often I've asked these people who want to confess, "Why are you doing it? Is it just to get something off your conscience and thereby to save your soul?" If so, keep your mouth shut because you'll purchase your mental peace at the cost of wrecking the happiness of the person you love. If you must confess, do it to your priest, your doctor or your minister."

The only premarital confidences that I feel a man or woman must make are certain important ones. For instance, before marriage, a man must always be frank and absolutely honest about his job and his financial situation. Any lies about these things will be detected later, and when a woman finds her husband has lied, she may lose all trust in him and happiness with him. Similarly, if a man was married before and is paying alimony or supporting a child, he must tell of this.

Or, if a man or a woman has so much insanity or epilepsy in the family that he or she prefers not to have children, or if the woman has had her womb removed, such facts must be revealed. To enter dishonestly into a serious lifelong contract, such as marriage should be, is only to invite disaster.

INFECTIOUS MONONUCLEOSIS

Many persons tell me that they have a child or a grandchild with infectious mononucleosis, and they are very anxious about him. They wonder what on earth the new disease is. Actually, it is an infectious disease, I suppose due to virus, which attacks usually young people. There may be some fever and enlargement of lymph nodes in the neck or arm-pit, or there may be peculiar changes in the blood with an excess of what we call mononuclear cells (cells that have one nucleus).

An expert blood specialist looking at the stained smear of the blood can usually tell in a minute what the trouble is. He may also get his laboratory to make a test for what is called the heterophile antibody, and if this is positive he will be the surer of his diagnosis.

I don't know that there is any curative treatment. Fortunately, there is no great need for treatment because these people practically always are soon well.

Last Rites for Retired Nurse

Funeral services for Miss Lucy B. Drummond-Hay, RN, a member of the Queen Alexandra Jubilee Nurses (Scotland), who died Friday were scheduled for 2 p.m. today at St. Luke's Church.

She was 83.

Canon F. Pike was invited to conduct the services, with interment to follow in the churchyard.

Born in Glencarse, Scotland, Miss Drummond-Hay resided at Hondo, Alta, before retiring to Victoria.

She is survived by two sisters, Misses Alice and Edith, of Perth, Scotland.

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

70 Arrested as Edmonton Police Raid Alleged Gambling Houses

EDMONTON (CP)—City police pounced on four alleged gambling houses in Edmonton's Chinatown Saturday night, bringing abrupt endings to games of fan-tan, mah-jong and dominoes. Seventy persons were arrested.

"We are just cleaning up the city," said Inspector Bert Patheram.

There was no indication whether the raids had any connection with a civic inquiry which began Friday into a Feb. 11 raid by eight uniformed officers who allegedly acted without the knowledge of Chief Constable Reg Jennings or the city morality squad.

Some of the 57 persons found in the first three raids Saturday were released on bail, but were back at the tables when the fourth suspected gaming house was stormed 3½ hours later. They were not re-arrested.

Wong Toy, Charlie Wong, Tony Mah and Mah Shew will appear in court today to face charges of keeping a gaming house. The 66 others were charged with being found-ins.

The raids were carried out by 23 detectives and uniformed constables working under four inspectors. The morality squad did not take part.

Police said there were no card games being played.

ARSONIST IMPROVED

EDMONTON (CP) — Frank McNulty, convicted arsonist and murder suspect stricken with polio a week ago while in jail, was reported Sunday in slightly improved condition in hospital here. But he is still seriously ill.

McNulty was placed in an iron lung after being removed to hospital from nearby Fort Saskatchewan jail, where he was lodged pending the outcome of his appeal against a three-year sentence for arson in connection with an attempt to set fire to Calgary Salvation Army hostel.

He is wanted on a murder charge concerning a fire Nov. 15 which destroyed the St. Thomas, Ont., YMCA and killed two elderly men.

ESKIMO WOMAN WELL

EDMONTON (CP) — Medical examination has revealed no illness in a 25-year-old Eskimo woman from the Arctic who has flown 1,900 miles to hospital in Edmonton by the RCAF.

The Eskimo, known only as Elizabeth, was flown from Arctic Bay on Baffin Island, 445 miles inside the Arctic circle, because she was believed to have tubercular meningitis.

But the doctor who examined her shortly after she was admitted to Charles Camsell Indian Hospital Saturday night said he found nothing wrong with her.

He said the Eskimo could have been ill 10 days ago but she's in good shape now and will stay in hospital until another plane can take her home.

The air force Dakota, carrying two crews, took five days to complete the mission because of bad flying which delayed northern operation two days and engine trouble.

WOULD SHARE ROYALTIES

WINNIPEG (CP)—A member of the Manitoba legislature urged Saturday night that the Manitoba government share its own royalties with farmers on oilwell sites who own only the surface rights.

J. W. M. Thompson, Progressive Conservative member for Virden, said in an address prepared for delivery over radio station CKRC that as a result of "an historical inequity" many people in western Manitoba do not own the oil rights on their land. The area was settled after 1891 when the federal government began reserving mineral rights to itself. These rights were turned over to the Manitoba government in 1930.

He urged that persons owning land from which oil is produced should get a 3⅛-per-cent share in production—one-quarter of the government's royalty.

ISLAND DIGEST

NANAIMO — Opposition is being organized to City Council's plan to purchase property on Wakesiah Avenue, opposite Bowen Park, as a cemetery site. Protest petitions are being circulated. Ratepayers are supposed to vote on a $34,313 money by-law, authorizing the purchase, in about two months' time. Space in the present cemetery will be exhausted by June.

Rail Employees' Hearing Resumes

MONTREAL (CP)—A federal conciliation board hearing a dispute between Canadian railways and their 150,000 non-operating employees resumes sittings today.

The board, under the chairmanship of Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada, began sittings here a month ago but adjourned Feb. 3 to permit both sides to gather more material for their respective cases.

The unions are seeking certain fringe benefits covering vacation pay, sick leave and statutory holidays. The railways have estimated the demands would cost them $60,000,000 a year.

Dog Awarded Medal For Saving 31 Lives

LISBON (Retuers)—The National Portuguese Soicety for the Protection of Animals awarded a gold medal to a dog which saved 31 persons from asphyxiation. The dog used to go to wait outside a school here every day for its master but one day the owner was late. The dog then seized the coat of a passer-by and persuaded him to enter the building. There he found the teacher and 30 students overcome by gas from a leaking pipe in the classroom.

"Imagine Raggedy Ann taking me to Bermuda!"

"I once had a doll called Raggedy Ann. She had red hair, and a wide, happy mouth. She was just a floppy rag doll, but I loved her.

"One night last summer I decided to make another Raggedy Ann for my niece's birthday.

"In two evenings I finished the doll and gave it to Martha, who is just six. She was so delighted, I made more Raggedy Anns for little girls I knew.

"It wasn't long before several mothers wanted me to make Raggedy Anns for their little girls.

"With the money they paid me for the dolls, I opened a special savings account at The Dominion Bank in our neighbourhood. My savings grew, and I really got interested in being thrifty, because now I had an objective. Mr. Wilson, the manager, calls it my 'Bermuda Vacation Account'.

"Next year, thanks to Raggedy Ann and my Dominion Bank savings account, I'm going to Bermuda for a vacation. Who knows where Raggedy Ann may help to take me in the future!"

If you have a hobby or a spare time skill, it may earn extra money for you too. Keep track of those extra dollars by opening a savings account at The Dominion Bank. Remember, every account at The Dominion Bank is an important account!

SPAGHETTI WITH MEAT

(Makes 3-4 servings)

1 tablespoon shortening
½ pound ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
¾ teaspoon salt
20-oz. can Heinz Cooked Spaghetti in Tomato Sauce with Cheese

Melt shortening. Add ground beef, onion and salt. Brown lightly. Add spaghetti. Heat well.

CREOLE SAUSAGES

(Makes 4 servings)

Fry 1 pound of sausages in a frying pan until nicely browned, pour off excess fat. Measure into a bowl 1 thinly-sliced onion, ¼ cup green pepper strips, ½ cup sliced celery, ¾ cup water, 1 tablespoon Heinz White Vinegar and ½ cup Heinz Tomato Ketchup. Mix together, then pour over the browned sausages. Cover and simmer, stirring occassionally, until sausages are cooked and sauce is thickened to a nice consistency—about 20 minutes.

ALL-STAR BEAN CASSEROLE

(Makes 3-4 servings)

1 tablespoon butter
¼ cup chopped onion
½ cup sliced celery
6 to 8 slices salami
1 can (20-oz.) Heinz Oven-Baked Beans with Pork and Tomato Sauce

Heat the butter in a frying pan, add the onion and celery, and fry, stirring occassionally, until vegetables are tender and golden. Cut the slices of salami into star shapes; cut the remaining bits of salami into small pieces. Turn the Heinz Oven-Baked Beans into a casserole. Add the vegetable mixture and bits of salami and combine lightly. Cover and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, 20 minutes. Uncover casserole and arrange stars of salami over beans, return to oven and bake uncovered about 10 minutes longer. Garnish with sliced stuffed olives.

19 NATIONS MEET IN VENEZUELA

Western Hemisphere Countries to Discuss Communism, Coffee, in Tense Atmosphere

CARACAS, Venezuela (UP) — Delegates from the United States, Canada and 17 other Western Hemisphere nations assembled today, with security forces standing by to prevent repetition of the Communist-inspired violence which took hundreds of lives at a similar meeting Colombia in 1948.

U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles brought a strong delegation representing congress, the state, treasury and commerce departments and other agencies to the 10th Inter-American conference which opened this morning.

"Major items up for discussion during the meeting were Communism, coffee, cold cash and other issues affecting inter-American relations.

Venezuelan security forces were alerted to thwart any Communist-backed effort to disrupt the meeting.

A police cordon surrounded the entrance to the conference site, the $30,000,000 University City, to check the credentials of all persons attending the conference.

SECURITY MEASURES

Full security measures were in force when Dulles and his delegation arrived Sunday night in President Eisenhower's plane, "The Columbine," to lead the U.S. drive to curb Communism in the Americas.

Venezuelan security chief Pedro Estrada greeted Dulles at the airport and rode with him in President Marcos Perez Jimenez's automobile to the residence of U.S. Ambassador Fletcher Warren.

It was announced that Dulles would receive complete protection during his stay here, expected to last about nine days. The conference is expected to complete its agenda in three to five weeks.

In a brief statement at the airport, Dulles said he believed the atmosphere of this meeting would be more temperate than that of the recent Big Four conference in Berlin.

"I feel confident that this tenth meeting of the American states will add to our historic record . . . a constructive new chapter of which we can all be proud," Dulles said.

Did Not Try to Mediate Dispute Between India-Pakistan, Says PM

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters) — Prime Minister St. Laurent said today that he had not tried to mediate in Indian-Pakistan disputes and told reporters here "I do not want to be a meddler.

"It sometimes happens that those who want to be mediators are known as meddlers," he said.

The Canadian leader, who arrived here Sunday from India on his round-the-world tour, gave a press conference in the office of the Canadian high commissioner, James Burley.

Among his statements were:

1. "I do not believe a war will occur."

2. "There is too great a disparity between the living standards of east and west."

The prime minister was scheduled today to visit the shrine of D. S. Senanayake, an old friend and the first prime minister of this island dominion.

He was greeted on arrival here by Prime Minister Sir John Kotelawala, members of his cabinet, and Canadian High Commissioner Hurley.

". . . but my husband ate all the Shirriff's Marmalade for supper."

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

EDMONTON—Attempting to describe the fanfare associated with the Macdonald Brier Dominion Curling Championships is like trying to describe colour to a man blind adequately.

This, "The Silver Jubilee of the Brier," has all the earmarks of being the grand-daddy of all championships. This is as the world series is to baseball.

The 11 rinks competing are the final survivors of 20,000 teams. Forty-four men remain from the estimated number of 50,000 curlers in the Dominion.

Walker

Today those 44 representatives of every hamlet and whistle stop within the Dominion forget their identities as individuals. No longer are the skips of these championship units and members of their rinks solely names that can be found in the directories of the cities and towns they represent. They are simply British Columbia, Newfoundland or Prince Edward Island as the case may be.

The interest here in the Alberta capital is tremendous, and it should be, for here in Alberta curling dates back to the mid-1880's when the game was played on river ice.

Today there isn't enough ice on the North Saskatchewan River to hold a stone, let alone 44 curlers, and the melted down cannon that soldiers first used as rocks in Quebec have made way to granite most everywhere but in some portions of the Ottawa district where iron curling is waging a losing battle.

All Canada Well Represented

And so today 11 rinks, representing every province and northern Ontario, move into the spacious Edmonton Gardens, home of the Flyers of the Western Hockey League.

Brier officials are confident that the ice surface at the Gardens will leave nothing to be desired. Five sheets of ice have been laid out and three men, all accomplished at the art, have been working for four days on the conversion program.

Since their arrival here Saturday, the curlers have all but been swept out of the hacks they will occupy today by the merry-go-round of activities.

The eastern contingent composed of all rinks east of Alberta, arrived by special CNR train Saturday morning and were paraded by car to the Macdonald Hotel, headquarters for the event.

There followed two dinner engagements that day—luncheon through the courtesy of the city of Edmonton (Victoria, take note; it may soon be your day) and an evening banquet at which the government of Alberta picked up the tab.

Sunday the draw was made at dinner for the five-day program. Special practice games were arranged in the afternoon and again Monday morning on Edmonton club rinks.

West Favored to Win Tankard

In the 24-year history of the Brier, Western rinks have filled the tankard 18 times. Little reason then to doubt that again this year they are favored. The homebrews from Alberta naturally are looking to a local youngster, relatively young in years but long on experience, to lead the Western contingent home. Matt Baldwin, skip of the Alberta rink, is only 27 years of age but he has contested a Brier berth on six separate occasions and this season won the Edmonton City Grand Aggregate. His third is Glenn Gray who readily will be recalled by golfers as a member of the Alberta Willingdon Cup golf team of 1949 and 1952. Gray skipped his own rink to the Alberta provincial title in 1951 and has been in nine Provincial British Consol finals. However, the eventful fate of the Alberta rink may be decided early.

Alberta drew the curling Campbells from Saskatchewan in this afternoon's first round and will clash with another of the pre-bonspiel favorites, Jimmy Welsh of Manitoba, Tuesday morning. The B.C. rink, skipped by Vancouver's Bung Cartmell, is also rated highly and draws a bye tonight following a first-round game against Northern Ontario.

But these are the intangibles which always precede a championship. As they say in curling, it's a slippery game. The Campbell brothers from Avonlea squeaked into the Brier by the thin edge of a razor blade. Three measurements it took to decide their final match. And that's how close this bonspiel figures to be.

Victoria Would Be Considered

Brier officials contacted here appear very receptive to a bid from Victoria for the Dominion championships in the near future. They realize that Victoria, young in curling as it is, has a definite place in their prime interest to promote the game where it will achieve the desired results that can only be stimulated by an event of this magnitude.

They also point out that club rinks are not able to cater to the attendance that is warranted for the Brier, thus the need for the Arena to be made available has been done here and would be necessary in Victoria.

The suggestion is submitted that Victoria make its bid as soon as possible. The application will receive a favorable audience.

FROM THE HACK—An oddity about the Campbell brothers rink from Saskatchewan is that the youngest of the four, Garnet at 27, is the skip. Too, Gordon, the lead, modestly admits that he is only substituting for aonther brother, Lloyd, who was rendered inactive earlier this season by an arm injury. However, Gordon himself was the victim of an off accident while awaiting the Brier. In order, as he said, "to keep out of trouble, I went to a show the other night." But the theatre wasn't the safest place for him to be as matters turned out. For in moving in his seat, he, too, suffered an arm injury and on his physical status could conceivably hinge the fortunes of the Campbells.

King Ranch's Rejected Wins Santa Anita 'Cap

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—King Ranch's favored Rejected, a four-year-old bay with a rather drab history for winning races, brightened the picture tremendously Saturday with a furious stretch run to capture the $143,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

Jockey Willie Shoemaker brought the brown Kentucky colt up from a dead last position to win the $105,900 top prize by 1¼ lengths over the pace setting Imbros, and Cyclotron, a longshot, ran third, a length behind.

Indian Hemp, the second choice, owned by Alberta Ranches of Calgary, finished a disappointing fifth and was never in contention, balking Johnny Longden's attempt to win the rich fixture for the fourth time. Indian Hemp's stablemate, Thirteen of Diamonds, was a late scratch.

Racing before a roaring crowd of 55,000 fans under a hazy sky and over a fast track, Rejected won with a rush in a race timed at 2:00 3-5 for the 1¼-mile route.

Rejected, coupled with stablemate High Scud and Mrs. Edward Betty Greer Lansker's By Zeus, paid $5.90, $3.20 and $2.50. Imbros paid $7.30 and $5.50 and Cyclotron $7.70.

IMBROS MAIN THREAT

Until the pack of 17 candidates hit the dirt heading toward the stretch, it appeared that Rejected would not be heard from.

Imbros, who set the world record for seven furlongs at Santa Anita earlier this meeting, blazed away as if he would steal the classic from wire to wire.

Imbros built up a fair lead going around the clubhouse turn, held it down the back stretch, and was still at the top of the pack at the far turn, with Cyclotron the nearest threat.

Rejected, a notorious stretch runner, then let loose.

He moved up to fourth, to third, to second and 200 yards from the wire collared Imbros. Then he pulled away and the race was over.

Longden explained the poor fifth finish for his horse, Indian Hemp, second choice in the betting. "He 'fell down,' stumbled badly leaving the gate. But after that, we didn't have any trouble," the 44-year-old Longden said.

In 17 starts, Rejected had won but five races until Saturday. Last year he ran in an $8,000 claiming race at Tanforan and luckily was not claimed.

Brier Draw Made

B.C. Rink Meets Northern Ontario

EDMONTON (CP)—Battle lines have been drawn for the 25th annual Canadian curling championships opening here today with 11 rinks from 10 provinces competing.

Officials Sunday announced the make-up of the 11 draws leading to the dominion title. Because of the odd number of rinks, each draw will see one rink get a bye. The teams meet once each in the round-robin.

In event of a tie for first place, the two top teams will play a sudden-death game Friday night.

What observers believe to be two of the most powerful rinks were to meet in the first draw at 3 p.m. MST today. They are Matt Baldwin's Edmonton aggregation, the Alberta champions, and the Campbell brothers of Avonlea, the Saskatchewan champions.

The Campbell rink, skipped by Garnet Mac Campbell, has been having manpower trouble. Lead Gordon Campbell suffered a displaced disc in his back last week and was a doubtful starter.

Most of the rinks took it easy Sunday. Only northern Ontario's rink from Sudbury, skipped by Don Groom, put in a little practice.

Following are the draws:

MONDAY

3 p.m. — Saskatchewan vs. Alberta, Manitoba vs. Ontario, Prince Edward Island vs. Newfoundland, British Columbia vs. Northern Ontario, Quebec vs. Nova Scotia. Bye, New Brunswick.

8 p.m.—Newfoundland vs. Northern Ontario, Quebec vs. Manitoba, Alberta vs. Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan vs. New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island vs. Ontario. Bye, British Columbia.

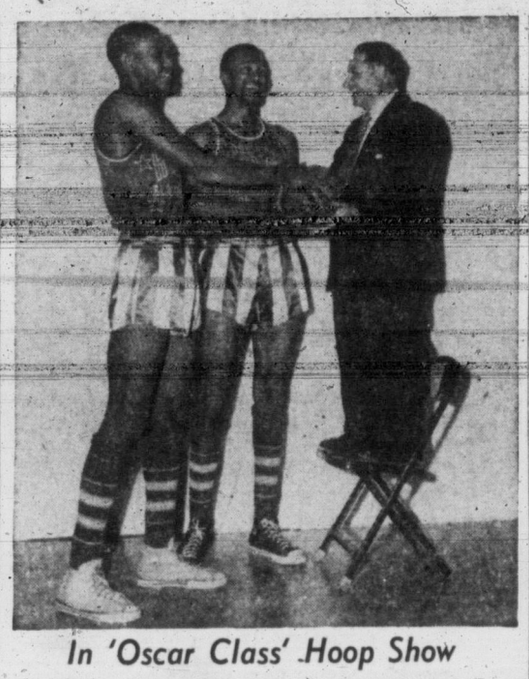
Colwood Pair Takes Over Golf Buttons

Royal Colwood Golf Club's team of Vic Painter and Bill McColl defeated the Gorge Vale team of Bob Fleming and Hugh Morrison, 4 and 3, Sunday in a replay, at Colwood of their former match that ended all even after 20 holes.

Fleming and Morrison were one down at the turn. The 10th, 11th and 12th holes were halved with pars. McColl birdied on the 13th to put the winning team two up. McColl and Painter both scored birdies to go three up on the 14th and in the 15th with pars to win the match, 4 and 3.

Joe Pryke and Jack Clarke of Gorge Vale will try and wrest the buttons away from the Painter-McColl team next Sunday at Gorge Vale.



In 'Oscar Class' Hoop Show

Manager Abe Saperstein gets kind of tired always looking up to speak to his giants of the basketball court so here he climbs aboard a chair to have a chat with two of his Harlem Globetrotters who will appear in the colorful basketball show at Memorial Arena Wednesday night. Toledo Mercuries and Boston Whirlwinds and Victoria Kins will also be taking part in the glittering show starting at 8.30. Saperstein is chatting with players Willie Gardner, left, and Lee Garner.

Late Penalty Kick Brings United Win

Victoria United 2, North Shore United 1

By TONY BRISTOWE

By the grace of a penalty kick awarded in the closing minutes, Victoria United beat North Shore United by the odd goal of three at Athletic Park Saturday, and so the two are tied for first place in the Coast League. North Shore, however, have a game in hand.

This was a scrappy game, and in fact ended in a scrap, as Chick Newman and Tom Cooper came to blows. Both were sent off for their pains, and the last few heated moments ended with United grimly hanging on to their lead. An offense which appeared to call for a penalty kick against Victoria was the cause o. the fight.

The game passed out of control of the referee, which is happening all too often for anyone's good. Referees are human, and therefore, like other humans, cannot be expected to be perfect. However two things they can avoid are, first, inconsistency (such as blowing the whistle for an offense and then waving the player on, which happened Saturday); and second, arguing with the players. Players are allowed to appeal, but that is all, and a referee who will argue and dispute with them will sooner or later lose control.

DULL GAME

The game was a dull, aimless affair, reflecting the long layoff. North Shore missed three golden chances in the first few minutes, but nothing else of note happened until well into the second half.

Then suddenly some Victoria pressure brought its reward. First a Cedric Robb shot was rather luckily blocked by goalie Joe Travis' legs. Then a beautiful in-swinging corner by Tim Walker (who played a much improved game) nearly scored off the cross-bar. A little later Whitey Turner put George Wright away on the wing, and his cross was neatly netted by Walker.

United held this lead for exactly two minutes. Then Bruce Ashdown, on North Shore's left wing, cleverly slipped his check and banged home a housing shot off the under-edge of the crossbar, which gave Bill McAllister no chance at all.

Both goalkeepers made some fine saves, and with only five minutes left to play United were awarded their penalty against Joe Travis. Jack Robbins (who had come back into the game after a first half injury) once again demonstrated his artistry with the kick.

And so to the mayhem, which rounded off an afternoon that would have been better spent somewhere else—fishing for example. To judge from the poor attendance a lot of people had this much good sense.

Collegians Gain Tie

Decisive victories were scored in Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football League games played here Sunday.

In the junior division, Victoria College advanced into a two-way tie for first place by humbling Tillicum Athletic Club, 5-1. R. Hughes scored four goals for College, D. Smith, one. S. Smith scored the only goal for TAC.

W. Willis, W. Hussey, J. Stodhardt and B. Showers provided the goals that gave Eagles a 4-0 win over Canadian Scottish Cadets in a First Division encounter. ANAF Vets gave Langford a sound 13-0 drubbing in the First Division.

Mic Mac's furthered their lead in the Second Division by beating 5th B.C. Coast Regt., RCA., 3-0. Bryan Carver, Pete Harper and Bob Urchison did the scoring.

Saturday games in the minor association saw Eagles score two victories, one draw.

In the Third Division, FOE strengthened their hold on first place by ekeing out a 2-1 victory over Black and White Taxi.

Eagles boosted their leadership marks in the Fourth Division by shufting out Esquimalt Meat Market, 4-0. In Fifth Division tilt Combines and Eagles fought to a 1-1 draw. Bob Musgrave scored for Combines, Bill McNomus for FOE.

In another Fifth Division game Shepherd's Dairy downed Heaney's, 2-0.

Goals Come Thick in City Football Action

Heaneys, Civil Service and Esquimalt scored one-sided victories over the week-end in a goal-packed session of Victoria and District Football Association activity.

On a chilly, windswept pitch at Beacon Hill Park Sunday centre forward Red McMillan and Jack McIntyre teamed up to give the hustling Civil Service club a 5-0 victory over Canadian Scottish.

McMillan, an opportunist de luxe, rapped in four goals while McIntyre, usually a forward but pressed into goal-tending service by the absence of Archie McMillan, made some brilliant saves and was fully deserving of a shutout.

McMillan got the first goal of the game on his club's initial rush, banging in Fuzz Blair's pass.

Blair himself got the second goal when Scottish goalie Doug Day misjudged his high wind-buffeted lob.

Shortly after the start of the second half, McMillan outjostled a Scottish fullback and nudged in a short shot for his second goal and got his third by converting outside right Jackie Thompson's corner kick. The goal was scored on Ken Wright who had replaced Day in goal.

McMillan completed the scoring with his fourth goal when he converted a smart goalmouth cross from winger George Wilson

Esquimalt were altogether too strong for Wood Motors, and a notable effort by centre-forward Ken Barnes, who scored four goals, helped Esquimalt considerably to their 6-1 win.

Esquimalt's superiority started in mid-field, where their insides and half-backs gathered the ball consistently. They used both wings freely, and while Jake Blevins on the right was good, Alec Stewart on the left was outstanding.

Wood Motors defense more or less fell apart under the onslaught, despite some hard work by Ernie Gardner. Their lone goal was scored in the second half by Tom Ewing when they were already three down.

Barnes scored the first three for Esquimalt, and then started to share his cake with Ed Young, who put in the fourth and fifth.

Victoria West tumbled to a 4-1 defeat at the hands of Heaney's Saturday at Lower Beacon Hill in a game that showed the ill-effects of the long layoff due to the heavy rains and snow this year

Both teams showed lots of fight but neither side displayed any brilliant football.

Wests drew first blood. Gene Thorne made a penalty kick good It was awarded for handling. Before that a West forward muffed a chance to make a rebound count.

Heaney's made it 2-1 before the half.

Heaney's goalie, Thorne, warded off two shots at his goal early in the second half when Wests tried to regain the lead. Before the final whistle Mel Sellars cinched the game for Heaney's when he whistled the ball past goalie Harvey.

Kins Bow Out of Island Hoop Final

Alberni Routs Victoria in Final Game

Alberni 63, Victoria Kins 49

By DENNY BOYD

ALBERNI—A great Alberni Athletic basketball team, one of the greatest the hoop-crazy canal town has ever had from a standpoint of spirit and hustle, wrote the final chapter of a colorful basketball story Saturday night.

Led by playing-coach Elmer Spiedel the A's defeated Victoria's slump-ridden Kins, 63-49 in the fifth game of a best-of-five series to return the Vancouver Island senior A men's basketball crown to the up-Island town.

It was a tremendous win for the Alberni club.

They left Victoria two weeks ago, trailing by two games in the series after Victoria won both the first and second games. Such was Victoria's margin of superiority in the first two games, it appeared that Kins might take the series in a straight-games sweep. It certainly seemed that Kins would never blow a two-game lead.

MEET EILERS

But that's exactly what happened. Alberni broke Kins' backs in the third and fourth games of the series in Alberni to tie the series and then feasted on the remains Saturday night to end the set. Alberni will now meet Vancouver Eilers for the B.C. title.

While Kins still played subpar basketball Saturday, they did not look as impotent as they did in the third and fourth games.

Actually, Kins were still in a strong position to take the game and series as late as the middle of the third period. But Alberni, fired up and lashed on by great performances by Spiedel and canny Al Brown, were not to be denied.

STRATEGIC MOVE

Alberni continued to use the slow - breaking game they switched to after dropping the first two games. And then, when Kins showed signs of perking up, Alberni switched to fast break that caught Kins unawares and enabled Alberni to sew up the game.

Alberni had a 15-8 lead at the end of the first quarter and the only reason the lead was not greater was the tremendous rebound work of Kins' Norm Baker, who had his greatest game of the series.

Kins picked up in the second period, again it was Baker leading the way, and Alberni led 27-22 at the half.

Baker, driving in like a tank or hitting from the outside, scored nine points in the third quarter, but Kins fell behind 46-36 after squaring the game at 30-30 on a foul shot and a driving lay-in by Baker and Johnny Clark's free toss.

Alberni switched to the fast break at the beginning of the fourth quarter and quickly threw in two breakaway hoops. Kins never fully recovered from these opening baskets and slowly fell behind.

Spiedel's long two-handers, Brown's accurate push-shots from the corners and Harry Kermode's pivot work were the chief factors in the Alberni win as Spiedel hit for 16 points and Brown and Kermode had 14 each.

BAKER SCORES 20

Baker, who tried and almost succeeded in carrying the full share for Kins, topped all scorers with 20 points.

Clark again failed to hit anything resembling his scoring ability. He was held to 10 points, giving him a total of 25 points for the three games at Alberni, compared to 41 he scored in the first two games of the series. However, Clark was a demon under the backboards, with a great display of rebounding.

Neither club had any criticism of the refereeing of Gordy Macdonald and Jimmy Sawyer in a game that was comparatively free of fouls.

Line-ups follow:

Alberni—Spiedel 16, Brinham 8, Samarin 4, Brown 14, Williamson 3, Kermode 14, Mosdell, Gray 2, Griesdale 2, Veitch. Total—63.

Victoria—Clark 10, Baker 20, Curtis, Denison 7, Parker 4, Hendry 8, Bamford, Tooby, Jacklin, Donahue. Total—49.

Naden Swingers Win Inter-Ship Tourney

By posting low gross of 753, HMCS Naden golfers won the Royal Canadian Navy inter-ship monthly competition Saturday at Gorge Vale Golf Club. Naden shotmakers won the Sports Shop trophy.

Individual best golfer in the tourney was Lieut. E. Woodward. He posted an 85 low gross. CPO Fox won low net honors with a 64. Over the first nine holes CPO Naysmith topped low gross scores with a 40. Cmdr. S. B. Stranix was the second nine low gross honors with a similar score.

Kickers' handicap was won by CPO Sealy with a 70. PO Dunal won the hidden holes competition with a 20.

WESTERN PUCK ROUND-UP

Cougars Meet Flyers Tonight

SATURDAY

Calgary 6, Saskatoon 2; Edmonton 6, New Westminster 3
Vancouver 7, Seattle 5

SUNDAY

Seattle 8, Edmonton 3

Victoria Cougars will be out to strengthen their fifth-place standing in the Western Hockey League when they play host to Edmonton Flyers at Memorial Arena tonight at 8.30.

Cougars are currently two points up on sixth-place New Westminster Royals, who are idle tonight. Only one other game is scheduled tonight, Calgary traveling to Saskatoon.

A haunted look is beginning to creep into the eyes of WHL goal-tenders.

Take a look at the week-end scores: Calgary Stampeders slaughtered Saskatoon Quakers 6-2, Edmonton Flyers dusted New Westminster Royals 6-3 and Vancouver Canucks outlasted Seattle Bombers 7-5 in Saturday games.

It got worse. Sunday, Seattle turned back Edmonton 8-3.

RAYNER HURT

Calgary accomplished the 6-2 rout by first disabling Quaker goalie Chuck Rayner, who was taken out for stitching of a puck-gash over his left eye. Rayner also suffered mild concussion.

Frank Ashworth, whose shot clipped Rayner, led Calgary with two goals. The others were by Sid Finney, Pat Coburn, Jim McFadden and Pat Lundy. Aggie Kukulowicz and Hymie Buller scored for Saskatoon.

It was a battle of goalies in the Vancouver-Seattle affray and Seattle's Marcel Pelletier won—he was the worst, letting in seven as compared with league-leading Lorne Worsley's five.

Vancouver's Larry Popein sank two with singles by Billy Dea, Gordy Kerr, Carl Kaiser, Les Hickey and Chuck McCullough. Seattle's counting was done by Wayne Browne, Guyle Fielder, Joe Conn, Bill Davidson and Joe Bell.

THREE EACH

Steve Hrymnak led the way in the Edmonton victory over Royals as he scored three goals. Jim Anderson, Don Poile and Enio Sclisizzi took care of the others. Royals goals came from Gordy Fashoway, Bobby Love and captain Max McNab.

Two Seattle sharpshooters scored three each Sunday—Wayne Brown, the league-leading goal-getter, and Mark Marquess more than winning the game by themselves.

Vic Lofvendahl and Rudy Filion were the other marksmen.

Guyle Fielder, who increased his lead in the individual points race to 79, was credited with four assists.

Edmonton resorted to rough tactics but the only ones able to break through were Anderson, Marcel Bonin and Hugh Coflin.

Playing coach Bud Poile picked up the second game misconduct to be imposed in the WHL this season when he argued Vic Stasiuk's third trip to the penalty box.

The action leaves the standings right where they were—with Vancouver and Calgary still tied for top spot.

Canada Setting Pace In World Hockey Meet

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Canada is up with the leaders after three days' play in the world hockey tournament, tied for first place with Russia, Sweden and Czechoslovakia, the three other pre-tournament favorites.

And the impression left so far with observers is that anything the other top-seeded entries can do, Toronto East York can do better.

Czechoslovakia, picked by many observers as the pre-tournament choice, whipped Switzerland 7-1 when the eight-team round-robin affair opened Friday. The next day the Canadians downed the Swiss 8-1.

Meanwhile, Russia's flashy Moscow Dynamos were blanking Norway 7-0. Canada repeated the whitewashing job Sunday—but the score was 8-0.

The Canadians figure to run into tougher opposition tonight when they tackle Sweden, last year's champions and the fourth club with an unbeaten 2-0 record.

SUBDUE FINNS

But the Swedes, who didn't have to meet Canada, Russia or Czechoslovakia in winning their title, had their morale shaken Sunday when they barely squeezed by winless Finland 5-3. It took a three-goal Swedish outburst in the last 10 minutes to subdue the stubborn Finns.

In other games today the Russians meet Germany and Czechoslovakia plays Finland.

The Czechs and Russians sat out Sunday's action while winless Germany and Switzerland played to a 3-3 tie.

Czechoslovakia had a sobering experience with the Germans Saturday. After flashing to a 6-0 lead at the end of two periods, they found themselves outscored and outplayed in the last 20 minutes as they hung on for a 9-4 victory.

Eric Unger, the Canadians' smooth-skating centre, scored three goals against the Swiss and picked up two, together with two assists, against Norway.

Unger, goalie Don Lockhart, defenseman Tom Jamieson and right-winger Bill Shill all figured prominently in both games.

SCORES TWICE

Centre Norm Gray scored twice Saturday and once Sunday. Left-winger Bill Sluee, on a line with Shill and Unger, picked up two goals against Norway. Bob Kennedy and Moe Galand each scored a goal both times out.

The Canadians also answered Swedish press criticisms of rough play. Adapting themselves to the unfamiliar European rules which outlaw body-checking, they won the support of the spectators with their clean play, drawing six penalties to Switzerland's four and four to Norway's five.

Blues, Bruins Fight Figures

SATURDAY

Montreal 5, New York 0; Toronto 4, Chicago 2

SUNDAY

New York 2, Montreal 0; Chicago 2, Toronto 1

It's more than a simple question of mathematics.

Should Boston lose a game or two while New York doesn't. . . . Should the Rangers falter once or twice and the Bruins continue their present pace, it's all over. One team or the other is in.

But there's another question: Can the respective coaches—and the lure of playoff money—keep their teams fired up for the last few games of the National Hockey League season?

The Bruins are still that one big point ahead of the Rangers for the fourth and last playoff berth.

The Rangers ran cold and hot during the week-end by splitting a home-and-home series against the rugged Montreal Canadiens. They dropped a 5-0 decision to the Montrealers Saturday and came back with a 2-0 victory before 13,580 fans at New York's Madison Square Garden Sunday night.

BRUINS IDLE

The Bruins didn't play. In two other games, Toronto Maple Leafs, tied with Canadiens for second place, walloped Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 in Toronto Saturday and dropped a 2-1 game against the Hawks in Chicago Sunday night.

At New York, Ranger goalkeeper Johnny Bower registered his third league shutout as rookie Camille Henry and veteran Doug Bentley tallied the only goals of the night.

At Montreal, Canadiens struck for four goals in the first period and gave relief goaltender Jacques Plante his third shutout in seven games. The Rangers never looked strong in this one.

Maurice Richard scored his 34th goal of the season and the other counters went to Johnny McCormack, Jean Beliveau, Lorne Davis and Doug Harvey.

The Black Hawks, out of the Stanley Cup playoff running, were sharp and rough as they treated 8,406 hometown fans to their 11th victory this year. Jerry Toppazzini and Lou Jankowski beat Toronto goalkeeper Harry Lumley for the Chicago goals. Eric Nesterenko evened the score at 1-1 in the second period but the Hawks fought back.

In Toronto Saturday, it was not until the third period when Leafs scored three goals that Toronto was assured of victory. Leftwinger Harry Watson, with the 198th goal of his career; Nesterenko, Tod Sloan and Sid Smith accounted for the Leaf goals. Jankowski and Jack Price replied for the Hawks.

BULLOCK CHAMP

Local Rinks Steal Show

Victoria rink skipped by Eric Bullock was the big rink on the annual Alberni men's 'bonspiel that concluded Sunday night.

Bullock rink captured the four-day tournament's most coveted award, the Grand Challenge Trophy presented by Port Alberni's Robert Miller. Victoria rink defeated Ron Harper, Duncan, 13-6, in the final.

Bill Dunstan's Victoria rink also placed high in the honors' ranks. They won the grand aggregate award for compiling the most points throughout the tourney. Dunstan gained the finals in two other trophy events but each time was defeated.

Typed the "biggest little" 'spiel in B.C., the tournament attracted 28 entries from outside and 12 local rinks. Outside rinks included one from Seattle, and one each from Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Mainland clubs were well represented.

Larry Marshall, Duncan, defeated Dunstan, Victoria, 14-6, in the final to win the Edgar MacKenzie Trophy.

In the Colonist Cup final R. Fuller, Nanaimo, defeated Dunstan, Victoria, 14-6.

A. Garnham, Vancouver, emerged with a narrow victory to take the T. Eaton Trophy event final. Mainland rink defeated John Pickup, Port Alberni, 7-6.

Saskatchewan rink of O. Sorteberg defeated Ed Price, Port Alberni, 9-8, to annex the Woodward Trophy.

T. Eaton event was secondary to the MacKenzie Trophy, the Colonist event secondary to the Woodward Trophy. All semifinalists in the four events qualified for the Grand Challenge Trophy, the Bullock rink stoning and brooming its way to the final to meet Duncan's Harper rink.

Annual Alberni Ladies' Bonspiel will be held in the same rink March 13 and 14.

Torontonians Score Shuttle Title Sweep

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four of five 1954 senior open badminton titles were won or shared by a Toronto pair, Marj Shedd and Don Smythe, in the Canadian badminton championships.

Vancouver's Daryl Thompson and Jean Bardsley won the fifth, the mixed doubles crown.

Miss Shedd lost a share in the fifth when she and Bill Purcell, also of Toronto, lost to Mrs. Bardsley and Thompson 15-17, 15-8, 17-15. Purcell and Joan Hennessy, also of Toronto, hold a share in the women's doubles and men's doubles titles with Smythe and Miss Shedd.

The two junior titles went to Calgary and Montreal, Jean Waring taking the junior women's singles title to Calgary and Harold Moody winning the boys singles crown.

Thompson, 1951 singles champion, played in three finals losing the men's doubles when teamed with Vancouver's Johnny Bouck and being edged 15-4, 4-15 and 15-12 by Smythe in the singles final.

Smythe's singles victory set a record as be became the first to hold the crown three straight years.

Miss Shedd and Miss Hennessy defeated Joan Warren and Barbara Ince in the all-Toronto women's doubles final, while Miss Shedd defeated 1950 champion, Lois Reid of Vancouver in two games for her second straight women's singles title.

JUVENILE HOOP SERIES AWAY TONIGHT AT SOOKE

McMorran's of Cordova Bay will oppose Cumberland Merchants of Comox Valley in the first game of a total-point series for the Vancouver Island juvenile boys' basketball championship in the main game on tonight's card at the Sooke Community Hall.

Cumberland gained the final by defeating Parksville, 127-28, in the Upper-Island final. Second game will be between Sooke and Saanichton in a senior men's match at 8. Sooke and St. Louis College midgets take the floor in the opener at 7.

Clippers in Final; Merchants Lead V's

Staging a spectacular six-goal splurge in the final period, Nanaimo Clippers wrapped up their best-of-five Vancouver Island Commercial Hockey League semifinal series in straight games by defeating Royal Canadian Navy, 6-4, at Nanaimo Saturday night.

At the same time, in Victoria's Memorial Arena, defending champion Merchants moved closer to a final berth by beating Victoria V's, 7-3 for their second win in as many tries.

Navy gave Clippers a stiff battle before bowing. Scoring a goal in each of the first two periods, the Tars entered the final frame on top 2-0. A major and a minor penalty against Navy's Tom Brodie paved the way for the Clipper victory.

PENALTY COSTLY

After being held in check through brilliant goaling by Al Millin in the Navy citadel, Clippers took the ice for the third frame with a man advantage as Brodie was whistled off just 16 seconds before the end of the second period. Arnie Duggan and Shadow Yesowick rapped in two swifties to tie up the game.

Orville Coulter once more gave Navy the lead but Yesowick came right back to snipe his second of three goals in the game just before Brodie returned to the ice. Clippers' veteran playing-coach Ed Shamlock put his team out in front to stay with one of the game's prettiest goals at 12.47. Yesowick then completed his hat-trick and Angie Defelice made victory certain.

Merchants went two games ahead in a match that was marred by extra-curricular activity between the game officials and several players.

Linesman Johnny Ruryk is believed to have been punched by a player or a fan at the end of one of the periods in the hectic game. However, Ruryk and his partner, referee Rod Jensen, declined to comment. Both of the officials were surrounded and jostled by a group of V's players following the game.

Merchants twice came from behind to post their victory, cementing it with a sizzling five-goal splurge in the third period.

V's went ahead 1-0 late in the first period only to see Merchants tie it. After Merchants scored once in the second frame, Les Corby rapped in two goals for V's to again give them the lead. However, there was no stopping Merchants in the third period and they blasted in five straight goals to sink the groggy V's.

Roy Begg Takes Lead In Zone 10-Pin Play

Strathcona tenpinner Roy Begg rolled into first place as play in the Victoria zone tenpin singles championship classic reached the half-way mark at Strathcona Bowling Alleys Saturday night.

Holding the runner-up position after first-night play with a 1,154 six-game total, Begg hit for a 1,140 score Saturday night to move out front with a 12-game total of 2,294.

Included in his total were singletons of 199, 183, 222, 174, 186 and 182.

Former leader Andy Palmer had a bad night and is now in the fourth position. Palmer posted a 967 Saturday night to give him a 1,163-967—2,130 total.

Ken Munn is second with 1,135-1,124 — 2,258 while Bill Templeton holds down third at 1,121-1,075—2,196.

The 16 trundlers entered in the competition will roll another six games at Gibson's Bowladrome Saturday night and conclude play at Strathcona with another six the following week.

Winner will represent Victoria at the B.C. championships in Vancouver next month.

Complete results follow:

Begg, 1,154-1,140—2,294; Munn, 1,135-1,123—2,258; Templeton, 1,121-1,075—2,196; Palmer, 1,163-967—2,130; Bill Coates, 1,060-1,068—2,128; Fred Walsh, 1,109-1,032—2,123; Len Murrant, 1,044-1,041—2,085; Harry Holness, 989-1,081—2,070; Roy Bridger, 1,006-1,046—2,052; Ron Coulter, 1,094-958—2,052; Len Parsons, 1,001-1,032—2,033; Connie McBeth, 985-1,042—2,027; Wilbur Webb, 1,030-998—2,023; Fred Shaw, 1,001-949—1,960; Walt Davis, 1,022-905—1,927; Bud Paik, 894-939—1,833.

CITY VISITOR SCORES ACE AT CEDAR HILL

Visitor from Agnacs, Ont., J. J. Robinson, 77, scored a hole-in-one Saturday in the 120-yard, ninth hole at Cedar Hill Golf Club course.

The 77-year-old visitor was playing in a foursome when he accomplished the one-shot score. Others were Messrs. Bainbridge, Reed and Frost. Ball sailed over an oak tree, landed two feet from the cup and rolled in, according to W. H. Barnes, one of the proprietors of the club, who witnessed the shot.

WINS MEXICAN OPEN TOURNAMENT

Palmer Sinks $2,910 Putt

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N.C., sank a putt on the last hole Sunday for a two-under-par 286 to nose out Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo for the Mexican open golf championship.

The victory gave Palmer $2,910 first prize money in the $12,200 tournament of the 6,679-yard, par 72 Club Mexico course. De Vicenzo's second place was worth $1,720.

Third money of $1,380 went to Johnny Witzel of Hershey, Pa. with 288-even par for the course. They were the only three finishers who broke or tied par.

De Vicenzo's golf was three strokes better than Palmer's Sunday, but it wasn't good enough to overcome Johnny's four-stroke lead going into the finals.

De Vicenzo posted a 74 for 287, Palmer 77 for 286.

"I almost threw it away on the last few holes," said Palmer.

On the 18th hole, De Vicenzo drove into trees and then took three to get onto the green. But he landed only one foot from the hole and sank it easily.

Palmer drove well, but overshot the green and the ball went through the crowd. His chipshot onto the green was 12 feet from the hole. He missed the first putt.

The ball was two feet from the hole, and a second miss would have tied the tournament. Palmer took his time and barely curved in for the title.

Tide Rugby Selection To Be Made This Week

Experienced English rugby fans keeping a close watch on the Victoria Crimson Tide-Vancouver Norwests McKechnie Cup quarrel Saturday at Macdonald Park saw eight sure-starters for the Crimson Corsairs for their game with the famous touring New Zealand All Blacks at the same park March 9.

Make-up of the Tide will not be decided until two practices have been held this week at Windsor Park, Tuesday night at 7 and Thursday night at 8.

Saturday's game was the finale of the cup schedule and had no bearing on the outcome of the McKechnie fight as Vancouver Reps has already won the B.C. supremacy silverpiece. Game was for the purpose of finding out those who can be depended upon to give the All-Blacks, the stiffest opposition possible in their Victoria appearance.

But just for the record Nor'wests beat Victoria 10-8. Visitors deserved the win, keeping play in the Victoria half of the field 95 per cent of the time. A Stubborn Victoria defense foiled the Vancouverites time and again and Victoria had the upper hand on the scoreboard at the half-time mark, 8-0. Most spectacular Victoria scoring was the 80-yard run by Gary Pynn when he intercepted a pass and sprinted for the try. John Skillings scored Tide's opening try which was converted by Frank Gower. Gorden Hemmingway and Alex Mahood went over for tries for Nor'wests. Harry Winter converted both.

POOR TURNOUT

There was a poor turnout of fans, no more than 100 on hand. It costs the Victoria Rugby Union $150 to bring a team over from the mainland.

Following the game the VRU selection committee went into a huddle. It is composed of veteran G. C. Grant, Paddy Lannigan and co-coaches Dick Ellis and John Poole, who has also been named coach-manager.

"After several hours of mulling things over we hadn't decided on a sure line-up, Ellis reported Sunday.

However, there are certain personnel of the Tide team who appear to be a cinch for a position on the team.

Dave Wittingham, Oak Bay Wanderers, appears certain to fill the fullback role, as do Wanderers' players Gary Webster, who did a good job as scrum half, and John Olson, a scrum tail-up. JBAA's Pete Fowles looks like a sure thing for a back-row scrum position.

Another probable for the game is Norm Dixon of Oak Bay High School, who did a creditable job as the scrum hook. Harry Turner, JBAA, is another possible. He worked well in the front line of the scrum.

There's a very good possibility that the services of Frank Gower, JBAA, will again be utilized. Question will be whether to leave him in the three-line or give him work in the forward line.

In all there are 18 players the selection committee is considering for the Tide line-up. Derek Hyde-Ley, clever Oak Bay centre-three, is also expected to be in uniform although he did not play Saturday.

Other players the team will be selected from are:

Forwards — Lorne MacDonald (OBW), Colin Blyth (OBW), if his cut knee is better, Dick Buxton (OBW), Peter Dixon (OBW), Paul Beck (OBW), Ron Hughes (JBAA), and Don Smith (JBAA).

Also among the backfield selection will be Ray Calton (OBW), Bob Abbott (JBAA), Pynn (JBAA), and John Skillings (JBAA).

Olson was knocked out of play by a kick to the back of the head. He suffered two kick injuries in the game, last one requiring three stitches. Paul Beck also suffered a kick injury.

Second division play Saturday saw College I beat College II, 24-6; Shawnigan Lake Boys' School winning by default over Oak Bay Wanderers, University school seniors, Seconds and Colts beat St. George's School, Vancouver, in all three games. Glenlyon School beat Oak Bay Wanderers, 6-3, in a midget tussle.

SOCCER MEETING

All teams in the Victoria and District Football Association are requested to have representatives present at an important meeting to be held Tuesday night at 8 in the British Public Schools Club.

MARKETS SUMMARY

Industrials Up, Golds Down

TORONTO (CP)—Prices were mixed in moderate trading toward the close of today's stock market session.

Industrials were stronger, and western oils were mixed. Golds and base metals were down.

Papers, steels, agricultures and refining oils were stronger in industrials but foods, financial institutions and liquors slipped.

Western oils moved within a narrow range. Canadian Collieries added 25 cents but most changes were losses.

Belleterre was down 60 cents to lead golds lower.

In uraniums New Bidlamaque added eight cents and Chimo, Centre Lake and Nesbitt-Labine were pennies stronger, but no major rise was apparent.

Seniors, juniors and Manitouwadge-area base metals were all slightly lower.

4-Point Rally Hits Wall St.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced today with many strong individual issues encouraging the move.

Many gains ran to between one and two points while some pushed on to around four points at times.

Railroads had difficulty as a group in making headway, but there was a lot of bounce in steels, motors, oils, chemicals, aircrafts, motion pictures and radio-televisions.

Dome Mines led Canadian stocks lower, off ⅜. Canadian Pacific fell ¼ and Distillers Seagram eased ⅛.

Lower Canadian issues on the American stock exchange included Giant Yellowknife, down ¼ and Royalite Oil, off ⅛.

Price Range Narrow

Prices moved in narrow range during a dull forenoon on Vancouver stock exchange.

Beaver Lodge slipped a half cent to 40 on 2,200-share volume. At noon the stock was offered at 40 cents.

Mid-Western Gas opened at 1.23, advanced to 1.24 then slipped to 1.20. Transactions totaled 1,600 shares. Noon quotation was 1.20-1.24.

Van-Tor moved 1,500 shares at 29, and 3,000 Giant Mascot changed hands at 40 cents.

London Trend Mixed

LONDON (Reuters)—Trading trend was mixed on London stock exchange today. Gilt-edged made small progress. Oils were depressed generally, though some of the leaders made gains. Kaffirs slipped after a good start. Industrials were irregular throughout.

Closing prices: Babcock & Wilcox 48s, Boots Pure Drug 23s 10½d, Canadian Pacific $43¾, Central Mining 29s 4½d, Courtaulds 52s 10½d, Hudson's Bay Co. 103s 10½d, Imperial Chemical 56s 7½d, Imperial Tobaccos 53s, Metal Box 68s 3d, Mexican Eagle 19s 9d, Rand Mines 67s 6d.

Bonds: British 2½s Consols £63⅞, British 3½s War Loans £85½, British Fundings 4s 1960-1990 £101⅝.

BUSINESS CAPSULE

Brisk Upturn in March Predicted by Big Buyers

A brisk upturn in business activity in Canada during March is predicted by those who should know best—the men who do the purchasing for Canada's great and small firms.

They will make that prediction in National Association of Purchasing Agents' monthly bulletin, to be published Wednesday in New York, even in the light of their own report that "business was spotty" in Canada during February.

Canadian purchasing agents were practically unanimous in reporting "production and orders in February were sharply down from December and January" and that "commodity prices turned down" after three months of resisting the trend in the U.S. Employment also took a sharp decline across Canada but much of it was discounted as "seasonal."

But Canada's purchasing agents "look to March for a brisk pick-up, with increased outdoor activity reflected in demand."

In the States, NAPA's Bullttin will report on Wednesday, "all but one of the important industrial business factors continued down in February. Production, prices, inventories and employment were off at about the same rates as in January."

But the Bulletin also will emphasize that new orders made "a bright spot" in the U.S. picture. While not of boom proportions, the number reporting increases (30 per cent) exactly balances the number of decreased orders, a condition that has not existed since last March. Also, the number showing increases is the highest since January, 1953.

Majority opinion of U.S. purchasing agents is that "Easter, spring and early summer products are becoming active," and March may show a leveling off (perhaps even an upward movement) of industrial business in the States.

NAPA also reports "happy days for buyers are here again." No materials are "critically short" and only a few—magnesium, nickel and some sizes of structural steel—are in tight supply.

HOME-APPRAISING LECTURES MARCH 15

Six-part course in "Principles and Techniques of Residential Appraising" will begin March 15 at Victoria College. Sponsored by the college's Evening Division and the Victoria Chapter, Society of Residential Appraisers, the course is designed to be a review for those already in the appraisal and allied fields, and to be an introduction for those interested in appraisal work. Registration fee, $25, includes standard handbooks and supplementary reading material. Instructor will be L. E. Pope, senior member of the society and an approved appraiser for Prudential Insurance and Great West Life. The six lectures and demonstrations will be given on Wednesday night at 7.30, starting March 15. Immediate registration with the registrar, Victoria College, is required.

MITCHELL, CIF EARNINGS GAIN

Per-share earnings of The Robert Mitchell Co. Ltd., increased to $5.31 in 1953 from $5.10 per share in 1952 and $3.14 in 1951. Net profit last year was $384,823 compared with $369,379 in 1952. Robert Mitchell shares today are quoted at $49 bid, $51 asked . . . Canadian Investment Fund Ltd. at Dec. 31 had greater assets, more shareholders and more shares outstanding than in any previous year. Number of shareholders in 1953 was nearly 1,000 more than in 1952—17,005 compared with 16,171. Shares outstanding totaled 7,656,961 compared with 7,183,320 in 1952. Net assets were $45,803,478 and it is stated "market value was $8,229,293 greater than cost." Total realized profit on securities was $2,299,286.

Bond Markets Slow

MONTREAL (CP)—The new Quebec issue and mid-term Government of Canadas were a shade stronger on Montreal bond markets today. Trading was slow. On the corporate side trading was quiet with the new Canadian Breweries issue slightly higher.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Grain prices were firm at the close today on the Winnipeg grain exchange, reflecting broad gains on United States markets. Flax scored the best gains.

Week-end export loadings of Canadian wheat were confined to 235,000 bushels to the United Kingdom.

Prices for the top grades of Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged from Friday.

Writer Must Reveal Sources, Court Rules

B.C. Appeal Court Ruling Upheld in Libel Action by Wismer Against Fraser, Maclean's

OTTAWA (CP) — Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's Magazine, will have to disclose his sources of information for an article which caused former British Columbia Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer to sue him for libel.

The Supreme Court of Canada today denied Fraser's application for permission to appeal a British Columbia appeal court ruling that he should disclose the information.

An article by Fraser called "B.C. Coalition Commits Suicide" and published in Maclean's Feb. 15, 1952, was the cause of the legal action.

When examined, Fraser refused to answer 36 questions concerning his sources of information and the names of his informants. A judge ordered him to answer 18 of them and the order was upheld in principle by the British Columbia Appeal Court.

Application for permission to appeal that ruling was denied today with costs.

Fraser contended that it had been established for over 60 years in England that where the defendant was a newspaper "it may not be required to disclose sources of information or the names of informants." He submitted that the rule applied in Canada.

The effect of such an order was against the public interest, Fraser said, "since the freedom of speech enjoyed by the members of the public in Canada would be unduly curtailed and information and comments on the political life of the country would be stifled."

The Maclean-Hunter Publishing Company was a co-defendant in the Wismer action.

British Ship Aground Off California

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UP) — Crews of three tugboats today hoped to take advantage of a high tide this morning to float the English freighter Ss. Darfield, hard aground off the coast some 20 miles from here.

Capt. Frank Randall of the tug Long Beach said the tide might give the tugs the help they needed to free the ship from rocks about 100 yards offshore. He said the 441-foot, 7109-ton ship was in "no immediate danger" and that the crew of 37 was safe.

The ship, registered to the Paular Maritime Co., of London, ran aground on the rocks Sunday in a dense fog during low tide. It was en route home from Vancouver, B.C. with a cargo of lumber and grain.

Snow and Ice Disrupt British Traveling

LONDON (AP) — Snow and ice disrupted rail, air and road services over 50,000 square miles of Britain today. Yet in London, after an early morning swirl of snow, it was bright and springlike.

Hundreds of thousands of London commuters were late in getting to work. Frozen points on rail lines had delayed their trains for as much as three hours. Services returned to normal later in the day.

Some flights out of London airport were delayed while ground staff chipped ice from airliner wings and thawed out frozen water pipes.

PRIESTS SAID TURNING TO COMMUNISM

PARIS (Reuters) — A ten-year-old experiment by more than 100 French priests to spread Christianity among the working people ended today on orders of the Vatican.

The "worker priests" have been employed as factory hands, dock workers and coal miners to give them closer contact with industrial workers. From now on they may devote no more than three hours daily to manual tasks.

Limitation of their work was ordered after charges that some worker-priests had swung to Communism instead of winning converts to Christianity.

Toronto Man Faces Murder Charge After Wife Found Strangled

TORONTO (BUP) — Harvey Snyder, a 23-year-old board of works employee, was charged today with the murder of his wife, Shirley, 22, whose strangled body was found in the couple's bungalow home in suburban Swansea.

Police forced their way into the house after a telephone call from a priest at St. Michael's Cathedral. Snyder had given himself up to the priest and was taken into custody by Toronto detectives.

Snyder was charged formally with murder after he was questioned by Toronto and Swansea police. The couple had lived in Swansea for about six months.

ANCIENT RELIGION

One of the world's great religions, Hinduism, is professed by more than 300,000,000 persons.

Police Guard Japanese Premier Against Assassination Attempt

TOKYO (UP) — Police tightened their guard around Premier Shigeru Yoshida today against a possible ultra-nationalist assassination attempt, reliable sources said.

Other government leaders were warned to take security precautions against a possible recurrence of incidents such as that of May 15, 1932, when the "blood brotherhood" assassinated Premier Tsuyoshi Inukai, and the Feb. 6, 1936, "bloodbath," which ushered in the Sino-Japanese war.

The warning followed strong outcries by ultra-nationalist groups against scandals now rocking the Japanese political scene.

Government officials likened the current situation to those existing before the 1932 and 1936 incidents in which military fanatics took matters in their own hands to eliminate "weakness" and "corruption" among political leaders.

As today's warning were issued, Japan's powerful labor unions held mass demonstrations throughout the nation to demand the resignation of the Yoshida government which they blamed for a growing shipbuilding scandal.

The Crow and the Pitcher

A THIRSTY CROW found a Pitcher with some water in it, but so little was there that, try as she might, she could not reach it with her beak, and it seemed as though she would die of thirst within sight of the remedy. At last she hit upon a clever plan.
She began dropping pebbles into the Pitcher, and with each pebble the water rose a little higher until at last it reached the brim, and the knowing bird was enabled to quench her thirst.

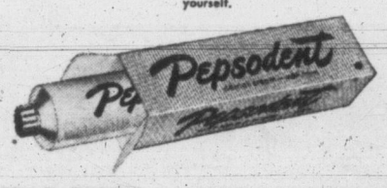
Do Your Teeth add years to your Face?

Your own mirror can tell you. See if old-looking teeth are robbing you of your youth each time you smile.

GET WHITER, YOUNGER-LOOKING TEETH IN JUST 3 WEEKS WITH PEPSODENT

Your dentist will tell you that teeth lose their youthful whiteness as they grow older. Far too often however people allow their teeth to become dull and dingy before they should, adding years to the appearance of their faces. If your mirror tells you your teeth aren't as white as they should be, try Pepsodent Dental Cream — Impartial laboratory tests prove that Pepsodent Dental Cream gives you whitest teeth — whiter than other leading toothpastes. Brush your teeth regularly with Pepsodent and in just 3 weeks, see the whiter, younger looking appearance of your teeth. And remember — white teeth are clean teeth and clean teeth help prevent harmful tooth decay.

ASK YOUR DENTIST — Every dentist has a tooth shade detector — it clearly shows that as teeth grow older they grow duller, losing their youthful whiteness. But, you can keep your teeth whiter, younger-looking by regular brushing with Pepsodent. Get Pepsodent today and in just 3 weeks see the improvement for yourself.



FOR WHITER, YOUNGER-LOOKING TEETH . . . USE PEPSODENT

Man Found Hanged On BCE Power Line

Boy Scouts Discover Body Near Extension; Description Given; Identification Sought

NANAIMO—Police have been unable to identify the body of a man found hanging from a B.C. Electric power line tower near Extension Saturday.

The man, aged between 60 and 65, was five feet, ten inches in height and was particularly thin. He had dark hair, turning grey, and wore a partial upper plate with four teeth on it.

He was wearing three khaki shirts, a red and black check mackinaw, a heavy blue overcoat, rubber boots, and a khaki army-type beret. He carried a luminous dial pocket watch.

Police have asked that anyone with a possible club to the man's identity notify the nearest RCMP office.

His body was discovered Saturday by three Boy Scouts from the Brechin Troop, Roy Richmond, Ted Dorsay and Lewis Bergman.

Air Post Offices Envisoned by Ottawa Authority

OTTAWA (CP)—Night mail planes carrying crews of sorters to ensure morning delivery in widely-separated cities is the dream of Walter Turnbull, deputy postmaster-general.

He said it is the intention of the department to move first-class mail by air even if planes have to be chartered for this work.

"I can see the day when we will have planes flying with mail only," he told the Senate transportation committee Friday.

Ontario Turns Down Resident Fishing Fee

TORONTO (BUP) — Ontario anglers could breath easier today following a provincial government announcement that it would not introduce resident fishing licenses.

A government white paper presented to the legislature on lands and forests last week suggested a $1 license fee.

The committee on fish and game had turned down similar proposals for a number of years. Officials claimed the cost of enforcing the regulation would exceed the revenue taken in.

TED'S RIGHT, DAD'S IN—COPS WIN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Officers, seeking to serve six traffic warrants on Theodore Martin Sr., went to his home Saturday.

They said Mrs. Martin assured officer Jeremiah Taylor that Martin, an auto mechanic, was not at home.

But three-year-old Theodore Martin Jr. knew differently. "Daddy's in the front room," he proudly told the policeman.

Taylor went into the living room. There were empty chairs, a rug on the floor, an unoccupied sofa—but no Martin Sr.

"Look in the sofa," little Ted shouted gleefully.

And there was Papa Martin underneath.

Queen Mother Wants to Make Trip To America in Comet Airliner

LONDON (UP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth, who once sat at the controls of a Comet jet airliner high over France, would like to make her flight to the United States this fall in one of the advanced models, palace sources reported today.

Palace sources said the royal family's advisers hoped a way could be found for the Queen Mother to fly the Atlantic in De Havilland's new Comet II or Comet III. The one she and Princess Margaret flew over France two years ago was an earlier Comet I.

Observers here said a royal flight in one of Britain's own passenger jets would go a long way toward restoring the prestige of Britain's jet-powered civil aviation which took a nose dive after the fatal Mediterranean crash and fell still further in February when a prototype of the turbo-prop Bristol Britannia airliner pancaked on mud flat in the River Severn.

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO FEBRUARY? or
PALMING OFF A FEW ASSORTED DATES.

A very happy birthday today to all those who should have a birthday today but don't have a birthday today.

Can you remember 'way back when you felt sorry for the poor people born on February 29, and sympathized with them for all the birthdays they missed?

If the time has come when you envy their lack of birthdays, you're as old as I am.

It was a little difficult this morning to decide whether March came in like a lion or a lamb.

Maybe we could compromise on a dash of lammon.

One thing we do know for sure, March is coming in with Sew-and-Save week, the general idea of which seems to be, as ye sew, so shall ye save.

Which reminds me: Do you remember that amusing old sew-and-sew, the big needle and thread man from North Thimble?. When I was in knee-pants, he used to keep us kids in stitches.

(Better HE should be writing this column).

March is also the month of big winds, when kite-flying is in season.

I hear the boys at the buildings rushed the season a little.

It is said they started flying their kite re indemnity increases last week.

Ah, March. What a wonderful month. On the 17th, you've a date with a shillelagh, and you'll be able to hear all the disc jockeys from Brooklyn talking with a genyoowine Irish brogue.

On the 21st, you've a date with a fickle maiden, name of Spring. Be on time—but don't be too surprised if she's late. Females are inclined that way.

But most of all, this is the month with the ides of which to beware.

Especially this kind of ide.

"There was this horse in the sixth race, see, and I'd of cleaned up if I'd of . . . .

Lenten Period Starts After 'Pancake Day'

Many Victorians will celebrate "Shrove Tuesday," March 2, in accordance with the traditions of their lands of origin.

Shrove Tuesday is so called because on this day people made "shrift" or confessions in preparation for the great fast which lasted until Easter. Roman Catholics and many Anglicans still observe the fast.

To most Victorians the event is known as "Pancake Tuesday" and is so observed.

The French-Canadians call it "Mardi Gras," a day for feasting and merrymaking, while the Germans, who now number about 700 in the city, know it as "fastendienstag."

Shrove Tuesday will be followed on Wednesday with special services in Roman Caholic and Anglican churches.

Solid Support Urged For Red Cross Drive

The flag of the International Red Cross was slowly hoisted over the Causeway at 9 a.m. today and 800 local volunteer canvassers set out to raise $72,000.

The traditional opening ceremony was marked by appeals from civic and government leaders to the people of Victoria to push the 1954 campaign beyond even the $85,000 mark reached last year.

Co-chairmen of the fund-raising effort, Ernest Heybroek and Eric Wainwright had many messages of good will.

Mayor Claude Harrison, who was present for the flag ceremony along with delegates of the Red Cross Corps and the Junior Red Cross, said: "In view of the fact that the Red Cross stands ready at all times to leap into the breach of disaster, I feel it deserves the whole-hearted support of the people of Victoria."

Oak Bay's Reeve Fred E. Norris gave official blessing to the campaign in his municipality with these words:

"Any society whose integrity transcends the frontiers of all nations is assured the support of the people. Wherever there is need you will find the Red Cross, but once a year they come to us in their need. Let us be sure that our contributions are an adequate expression of our appreciation of the work of the organization."

GREATER NEED

Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt pointed out in his message that since last year the Red Cross has a greater need of financial support than before. "It has added to the burden it carries for the needy and the helplesss of the world. It has taken up the fight against polio in the collection of extra blood for gamma globulin production.

"The costs of the Red Cross operation will increase accordingly. We will be wise to dig deeply . . . more deeply than ever . . . to assist the campaign to reach its goal," he added.

Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich was out of town when the campaign-eve expressions of support came in to Red Cross House. But Clr. George Austin spoke for the council when he said: "Wherever man suffers there is evidence of the Red Cross at work, be it an earthquake in Greece, a flood in Holland, a prisoner of war compound in the Far East or a veterans' hospital in our own district.

"Whoever loves his fellow man should look on support of this great work as a natural and Christian duty. I urge the people of Saanich to promote the Red Cross in our community."

Premier W. A. C. Bennett addressed a similar message to the people of the province last week. He said he was confident "the appreciation of our citizens will find expression in generous financial support."

House Speakers For Tuesday

Continuing the Throne Speech debate Tuesday will be Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers; Anthony Gargrave (CCF, Mackenzie); George Gregory Lib-Victoria), and Herbert Bruch (SC, Esquimalt).

ACID-BURNED

Congregation Prays to Aid Child Victim

The congregation of St. Savior's Anglican Church in Victoria West prayed for acid-scalded little Michael Hoadley Sunday.

Michael, four, of 415 Dundas, was on his way to Sunday school with a small playmate, Danny Lowrey, 515 Springfield, when the boys found a mysterious bottle on the sidewalk near Michael's home.

It contained sulphuric acid.

Michael picked up the bottle, dashed it on the concrete.

The acid sprayed his face.

Although his eyes were saved, the child's face is badly burned.

He was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, in great pain.

Police are attempting to trace the origin of the acid.

Veteran of Egypt Campaign of '82, J. Stirrat Passes

Funeral services for a veteran of the Egypt campaign of 1882, John Stirrat, 2135 McNeil, will be held from Thomson Funeral Home on Tuesday at 2 p.m.

Mr. Stirrat, pre-deceased by his wife in 1940, died Saturday.

A retired engineer, he served with the 14th Lancers in the Egyptian fighting and later in South Africa.

He is survived by one son, John, in Vancouver; four daughters, Mrs. W. T. Bracken, Victoria; Mrs. Gordon Leeming, Victoria; Mrs. C. H. Downey, California; and Miss Mary Stirrat, California; three granddaughters, one great granddaughter and one grandson.

Three city men were fined $25 and $2.50 costs each in court today when they pleaded guilty to failing to file income tax returns. They are Arjin Singh, 607 Manchester; David B. Orrick, 1742 Pembroke, and Louis R. Guidi, 707 Catherine.

BRITAIN HONORED HER COURAGE

Survivor of War Torture En Route to Lecture Here

The story of Singapore's rehabilitation following the Japanese occupation, and of her own work as an appointed member of the British colony's legislative council, will be told here to the Business and Professional Women's Club March 10 by Mrs. Elizabeth Su Moy Choy, OBE.

The same day she will address armed services personnel at HMCS Naden.

She is on a Dominion-wide tour.

For her heroic work on behalf of British prisoners of war, Mrs. Choy received the OBE. While the compounds were crowded with half-starved, diseased and hopeless men of the Singapore garrison, Mrs. Choy labored to ease their sufferings. Her work made her suspect, and she was arrested, together with her husband, and tortured, threatened and imprisoned for many months by the occupation forces.

Finally released, having impressed her captors with her innocence as far as spying for the British was concerned, her health broke.

When the British returned to Singapore, Mrs. Choy was sent to England for prolonged treatment, given signal honors by a grateful nation.

The Borneo-born woman of Chinese blood, an authority on education, is herself a teacher. She got her early education from her grandfather, a Chinese scholar, teacher and Anglican cleryman.

It was during her post-war sojourn in England that she posed for Dore Gordine, well-known sculptress, for a green bronze study named "Serene Jade" and hailed as a masterpiece.

EMERGENCY BLOOD CLINIC IN VICTORIA WEDNESDAY

Objective of 350 pints of blood has been set for an emergency Red Cross one-day blood donor clinic at Red Cross Headquarters, 1046 Fort, Wednesday.

Blood donations will be accepted from 1.30 to 4.30 p.m. and from 7 to 9.30 p.m.

The mobile clinic was scheduled to open at Kelowna on Wednesday, but a recent epidemic of jaundice in the interior canceled the operation. Thursday the clinic will move to Vancouver.

Gift for Everest Conqueror

Famous Bee-Keeper To Taste Island Honey

New Zealand's most famous bee-keeper will get a "taste" of some of the finest honey produced in British Columbia when he visits Victoria on March 8.

The Vancouver Island division of the B.C. Honey Producers' Association will present Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Mount Everest, with two jars of the finest honey produced on the Island.

The presentation will be made by Charles Warren, president the Times-sponsored Everest lecture at the Memorial Arena Monday, March 8.

Sir Edmund, a bee-keeper by profession, will receive samples of both dark and light honey. The former is made from spring flowers around Victoria, while the latter is known as "fireweed" honey.

Mr. Warren said Sir Edmund will then be able to compare B.C. honey with the produce of his own hives.

"I've never tasted New Zealand honey," added Mr. Warren, "but I'm sure the bees of that dominion make excellent honey. New Zealand is known for its flowers."

Mr. Warren pointed out that New Zealand honey was produced in the same way as in B.C. The hives are not kept in one location, but moved from place to place every year.

The beekeepers will be attending the lecture in a group.

Sir Edmund takes his climbing and beekeeping equally seriously. His father, a former journalist, started the bee farm. Since he was a boy, Sir Edmund has been helping him.

The famous mountaineer was actively engaged in harvesting a honey crop when he was invited by Sir John Hunt to join the British Mount Everest expidition in 1953. The beekeeper had to leave his work and fly to India to join the mountaineers.

Gaglardi Denies Support Offered Drink Plebiscite

Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi today denied he had backed a liquor plebiscite plan for his riding, Kamloops.

In the issue of Feb. 26, the Kamloops Sentinel said the minister had suggested a plebiscite to the Kamloops city council.

Mr. Gaglardi, pastor of the Calvary Temple at Kamloops, was said to have urged his congregation to support a plebiscite.

"This is not true," the minister said today.

"All I did was explain to my congregation how any plebiscite would work."

A local option plebiscite can result from a demand from council or on petition of 35 per cent of voters.

"I made absolutely no demands at all," said Mr. Gaglardi. "I would never put forward my ideas on the subject (of liquor)."

FEBRUARY WASN'T FINE

Old Sol Takes It Easy, Jupiter Stays on Job

Sixteen days of rain and snow, with only 71 hours of sunshine, turned Victoria's February into one of the dreariest months in years.

The sunshine was 27 hours below normal and precipitation nearly five inches aboue normal for February.

The tail end of an active Pacific storm will bring a few clouds to Victoria Tuesday and sunshine will be intermittent.

Low tonight and high Tuesday of 35 and 47 are forecast, with ground frost in sheltered areas overnight. Winds will be northerly at 20.

Tory MP Seeks Information On Charges of RCMP Leak

David Fulton, Conservative MP for Kamloops, has taken a hand in the inquiry into an alleged RCMP secret file leakage here in the John Marshall case.

He has written for information here with a view to raising the issue on the floor of the House of Commons.

Mr. Marshall is said to have been discharged by the Victoria Library Board because of information provided from RCMP files here. The matter was investigated; but Ottawa reported no breach of regulations had been found.

Meantime, the three local citizens who asked Justice Minister Stuart Garson to investigate are still awaiting a reply to a letter they sent him Feb. 21, expressing dissatisfaction with his statement of Feb 19.

The three — Frank Snowsell, Rev. D. C. O'Connell and Rev. E. J. Staley—said the minister's answer left certain questions unanswered.

McGill Graduates Raise Record Fund

The McGill Alma Mater Fund totaled a record-breaking $160,821 at the end of 1953, it is disclosed by Anson C. McKim, chairman of the fund.

A cheque for the total contribution was presented to Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill, by Mr. McKim. The amount given to McGill since the Alma Mater Fund was organized in 1948 is now $731,971.

HIGH COMMISSIONER for Pakistan, M. O. A. Baig, will address a meeting of the United Services Institute of Vancouver Island on March 8, at the Bay Street Armory at 8.15 p.m. Mr. Baig will arrive in Victoria next Sunday.

Tribute for Welsh Saint At Traditional Dinner

Over 120 persons of Welsh irigin will meet at Terry's dining room at 6.30 p.m. today to celebrate the Feast of St. David, patron saint of Wales.

Sponsored by the Victoria Cymroddion Society, the meeting will feature the singing of famous Welsh songs. D. Merlyn Jones, a Welsh exchange teacher at Ganges, will address the society on the history of St. David.

Elsewhere in the world, Welshmen will honor the memory of the great 6th century evangelist, whose courage and piety still inspires Welshmen.

Welshmen wearing the traditional leek and singing old Celtic songs will recall the great days of the principality when St. David was preaching Christianity in a country then torn by wars between Welsh and Saxons.

Of the many churches founded in Wales by St. David, 53 still bear his name. He was formally canonized about 1120 by Pope Calixtus II.

St. David was a devout churchman, a mystic, who took no part in the Saxon wars, but confined his energies to spreading the Christian faith. He established many monasteries both in his own principality and in Cornwall.

Scott to Carry Dobeson Case To Legislature

Adviser to Wait End of Trial Before Launching One-Man Lobby

The crusade of Mrs. Alice May Dobeson for a Royal Commission to investigate "legal piracy," which preys on "helpless women," may lay siege to the Parliament Buildings again.

But this time her efforts to gain help will be conducted through her adviser, W. A. Scott. Last time she broke a window to make her protest plain.

Mr. Scott, who secured the release of the elderly woman from city jail Saturday, says he will take the details of her complaints to the House.

"It will be a challenge to every MLA who has the interests of the people at heart," he promised.

"Where social evils exist, it is only proper they should be brought to the attention of our legal representatives."

He indicated, though, that he would not begin lobbying until the trial of Mrs. Dobeson, on a charge of doing wilful damage, is concluded at the Spring Assizes. It may be heard in two weeks' time.

Guest in Harry Haigh Home

Meantime, Mrs. Dobeson is preparing today to move into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haigh, on Rockland Avenue. She told the Times in exclusive interview Saturday that she would rest and "behave myself" until her trial.

She said the police treated her "wonderfully well" during her week in jail, but it was "noisy." She has turned to the Bible for solace and quoted from it during the interview.

She maintains that "Christ entered my cell" to give comfort while she was locked up.

Mrs. James Barr, 965 Portage, posted $500 bail for Mrs. Dobeson Saturday after the one-time Langford shopkeeper issued an appeal for rescue from the prospect of awaiting trial at Oakalla. Many other women offered help. Many sent letters.

One of the letters, written by a woman who also claims to have been "swindled of her life's savings" will be mimeographed, he said, and copies sent to the premier and all cabinet members.

Mrs. Dobeson was arrested Feb. 19 after she broke a large window in the Parliament Buildings with a volley of scrap metal. She said she did it to draw public attention to the manner in which real estate and legal representatives "swindled" women.

She claims to have lost a business in Langford through the machinations of lawyers and land agents.

South Island Drama Groups Perform Here

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Commencing Tuesday at 8 p.m., at Oak Bay Junior High School, will be a four-day event which is a highlight of the year for amateur drama groups. The Southern Vancouver Island Drama Festival of one-act plays brings together this year, drama enthusiasts from as far afield as Yellow Point.

Ten plays will be presented by seven groups. Three are to be presented on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and four on Thursday. Friday's program will be an honor repeat performance of three plays selected by adjudicator, Mrs. Margaret Barney of the Portland Civic Theatre.

Plays to be presented and the order in which they will appear are as follows: "Opening Night," by St. Luke's Players; "The Bear," by St. Andrew's Cathedral Drama Club; "The Case of the Weird Sisters," by Royal Jubilee Hospital Drama Club; "Here We Go Again," St. Andrew's Cathedral; "Two Gentlemen of Soho," Victoria Theatre Guild; "The Tail of Fire," Sidney Drama Club; "The Invisible Worm," Victoria Theatre Guild; "Down to the Seas," St. Andrew's Cathedral; "The Devil in the Lottery," Columbine Club, and a complimentary entry, "The Ugly Duckling," from Yellow Point.

The festival will be opened on Tuesday night by Hon. Robert Bonner, minister of education, who will be introduced by the chairman, Mrs. F. D. Mulholland.

Inner Harbor Gives Up Body

The body of an elderly city man was found by Edward Carson, 1133 Caledonia, Sunday at 4.40 p.m. on the shore of the Inner Harbor. The man had been drowned a few hours earlier and the body cast up by the tide, police said.

Until the deceased's relatives in England are notified, the name will not be disclosed.

Week Remains For Signatures To Vote Petition

Only one week remains for the Greater Victoria Citizens' Association to complete the petition calling for a local option vote on new-type liquor outlets.

Frank Hunter, association president, today called upon all persons sympathetic to the petition's purpose who have not as yet been canvassed to sign at one of the 11 central bureaus where forms are available.

Downtown petitions may be signed at the association's headquarters, Room 101, 1216 Broad Street, or at Terry's, Fort and Douglas.

"Where we are making the contacts, we are having very satisfactory results," Mr. Hunter said. "The problem is reaching the people in their homes. Some of our canvassers have called three or four times at a house before finding anyone home."

Three Injured In Week-End Road Crashes

Three persons were hurt and one man was arrested for driving while impaired by alcohol during a busy week-end, police reported today.

Saanich had the most serious accident, when a car driven by Raymond D. McGinnis, 1611 Belcher, went out of control at about 12.30 a.m. Sunday on Royal Oak. McGinnis and a passenger, Muriel Bousefield, 1529 Westall, were taken to Jubilee Hospital.

Their injuriesare not serious.

The driver had a cut lip and Miss Bousfield suffered a hip injury. Car damage amounted to $1,000, police said.

James Gatyshun, 42, of 730 Bowsley, crashed his car into a guard rail on the Johnson Street Bridge at 3.15 a.m. today. He was taken to Jubilee Hospital with two bones broken in his right hand and forehead abrasions. He did about $350 damage to his car.

City police arrested Mahinder Singh, Victoria, on Saturday and he appeared in city court today on an impaired driving charge. He won a week's remand to obtain counsel.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—How did Broad Street get its name?—H.E.W.

A.—At an early date it was known as Broadway. The name Broad Street appears in a directory of 1887. As to how the appellation "Broad" came to be associated with it there seems to be no clear evidence.

Q.—About two years ago there was a question and answer relative to the "Prairie Club of Victoria." An address was given, but at present there is no one at that location. Can you give the address of the present secretary or president?—Mrs. J.E.C.

A.—Inquiries indicate there is no organization called the Prairie Club active in Victoria at present. There used to be an Alberta Club and a Saskatchewan Club, but a search has failed to find names of officers of such organization listed in 1954.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Buy a Pair of Rompers And Get Free Toy Phone

By PENNY SAVER

Even if you have no youngsters of your own, I'm sure you'll get a bang out of seeing the "latest" fashions for the sprout set.

I wished that I knew someone with a baby boy when I saw some little jersey rompers in a store the other day. The tops of them were white and the bottoms of a color (your choice of aqua, blue, yellow), and on the white blouse part there was a colored design to match the panties.

The design was of two pussy cats having a telephone conversation. You if you are teetering on the border of buying, this final factor will sell you, I know. At no extra cost, you get a toy plastic telephone receiver to go with the rompers . . . gosh! Now they're making toys and clothes match! Complete, you pay just $1.98. Sizes are one, two and three.

★ ★ ★

For big sister, are washable orlon spring suits. And look . . . they've got permanently pleated skirts, just like mommy's! The jacket is box-style and the collar, pockets and buttons are trimmed with corded taffeta. I wouldn't have thought the suits were orlon, because they look just like wool. Sizes are four to six at $14.95 and seven to 12 at $15.95.

★ ★ ★

Changing the subject, have you ever wondered where you could get a box of notepaper . . . the French folded kind with a picture on the front . . . showing scenes of Victoria? Well, if you have, you'll be pleased to learn that you can now buy some at a local stationer's store. The scenes are in black and white and you get 12 notes and 12 envelopes for just 49 cents. Which, I say is a marvellous buy.

J. A. Edmison Will Address Women's Club

The Women's Canadian Club will meet in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel on Friday at 2.30 p.m., when J. Alex Edmison, QC, will speak on "The Eternal Problem of Crime and Criminals."

Mr. Edmison is assistant to the principal of Queens University. He practiced law in Montreal until his enlistment in 1940 and served overseas until 1945 when he was appointed by UNRRA as its senior officer in Germany. There he set up the organization for the care of refugees, displaced persons and concentration camp survivors. In this connection he received citations from General Eisenhower and General de Gaulle.

For 25 years he has been interested in all matters of crime prevention, penal reform and in the civil rehabilitation of discharges from penal institutions in which field he is a recognized authority.

Working Within a Budget Can Solve Many Problems

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Arguments about money are one of the most common causes of trouble in any family. A woman writes:

(Q) "I am 35 years old, married, and have two daughters. My husband is 45 years old. We have plenty of arguments with each other, all about money. If I do the shopping for the week, he complains that I spend too much money. If I let him do the shopping he never buys what I need. He won't buy clothes for me. He has to buy clothes for the children to wear to school but I have to fight with him to get the money for them.

Hurlock

"I tell him I'm going home to my parents and he says that I may go if I don't take the children with me. I know my mother would take care of the children while I worked. I am sick and tired of this constant arguing."

(A) I can readily understand why you would be "sick and tired" of arguing about money but, at the same time, I do not think that this is adequate reason to break up your marriage. Furthermore, it would be unfair to your children to take them away from their father and their home, and it would be unfair to your parents to give them the responsibility of caring for your children and perhaps even contributing to their support, if you cannot earn enough money to pay all their expenses.

A far better solution to your problem would be to work out a budget for the family expenses. Allot a certain amount for food, clothes, household expenses, gas, electricity, doctors' bills, and all the essentials. Be sure to set aside some money for "a rainy day."

Then, you should take charge of the money set aside for food and clothing for yourself and your children. If your husband insists that he can shop better than you can, give him a list of the things you need and insist that he get them, not something that strikes his fancy.

Clothing is very expensive these days. If your income is small, you will do well to buy materials and patterns and make as many clothes for yourself and your children as you can. Watch for the sales and buy the things you cannot make at reduced prices.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Correct Hair Care Should Start Early

Today I want to tell you something about Nina Debrova, the New Yorker who does magic things with the skin and hair. Here is one of her interesting ideas:

She feels that hair care should begin in childhood, and that if this were the universal habit, most baldness and many dull tresses could be avoided in later life. This is similar to the opinion which the late Miss Jessica Ogilvie once expressed to me. She, too, felt that thinning hair, and even greying, could be avoided or slowed up with proper care.

This is a sound idea which mothers should think of in training their children. If we could realize how many dead cells are sloughed off from the skin of our face and bodies, and from our scalps, we would more readily see how important extreme cleanliness is, not only for health but for lovely hair and skin.

The scalp, especially, should be watched for cleanliness, because of its covering of hair and the extra perspiration induced by this covering. The fatty acids and dead cells combine to give you trouble. Remember that the health of your hair lies in your blood stream and in your hair roots, not in the topknot you see.

Therefore, stimulation to bring more circulation to the scalp, plus careful cleanliness, plus correct diet, add up to beautiful hair. Of course there are some diseases which affect the hair. Scarlet fever or even the common cold has its impact, to say nothing of nervous strain and illnesses of all sorts.

During teen-age the oil glands along with other glands are speeded up, and therefore the problem of teen-age hair care should be given special attention.

You know something? I wish I were just a small child not only because I would have that many more years to live, but also because I would have the opportunity of applying all of today's knowledge about nutrition, psychosomatic medicine and skin and hair care to myself. Bet I would be having fun even when I am 90!

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Memory is an amazing thing! Given a look, a word, a few notes of music or a nostalgic whiff of perfume, and it will quickly bring back the familiar scenes of long ago.

This happened to me the other morning when I opened an envelope with the trade-mark of a well-known maker of packaged foods in the corner and discovered on the printed message within, the word—pancakes.

The message also reminded me that tomorrow is Shrove Tuesday . . . Pancake Day, we used to call it when I was a pig-tailed school girl.

Bessie

The word pancakes made me think of Pancake Day and from there memory urged me back across the years to a roomy, high-ceilinged kitchen in a comfortable well-used home.

It wasn't the "functional" kitchen you see in the home beautiful magazines of today and it certainly didn't save many steps. The pantry, with baking shelf and sink was at one side and the range that radiated warmth and a variety of good cooking smells on the other side.

Midway in between and directly under three big windows that were always curtained in crisp cross-bar muslin, was the kitchen table. It was big and solid and it could be made even bigger by the simple trick of pulling it apart and adding a board or two in the middle. A perfect arrangement if the neighborhood children happened to be around at meal times.

On Pancake Day, the mother of that house would be up especially early. Although, looking back, I imagine she was up fairly early every morning with five growing children waiting for breakfast.

When those children came yawning from their rooms, the big stove would be glowing with heat from the wood and coal it was consuming and if it happened to be a cold, frosty morning, the oven door would be open and extra warmth would flow out to touch shivering young arms and legs.

That oven was no sissy affair, I can tell you. It had a big black mouth that stretched back the whole width of the stove. It could take six good-sized pies at one cooking and about twice as many brown-crusted loaves of bread. It also was known to heat five or six bricks of a winter night that would be wrapped in pieces of flannel and placed far down in five beds where five pairs of searching toes would later find the comfortable warmth.

But I'm wandering away from Pancake Day . . . that's the trouble with memory . . . it tempts one to wander!

Pancakes Made the Old-Fashioned Way

At breakfast time on Pancake Day there would be big iron frying pans, well greased, on the top of that stove. And from the pantry would be heard the quick, clattery sound of an egg beater, and the softer sound of a wooden mixing spoon. There were no ready-mix foods in those days—and no mixmasters.

When the three oldest children had washed behind their ears and collected their school books . . . and the two youngest ones had succeeded in finding all their buttons and in tying their shoelaces, the mother of that house would come from the pantry with a big brown mixing bowl cradled in one arm and a medium-sized blue pitcher in her other hand.

The minute she appeared the children gathered around the stove to watch her expertly balance the big bowl filled with creamy yellow pancake batter, then dip her blue lustre jug down into the batter and, with a graceful movement of wrist and hand, pour it into the sizzling hot frying pans.

It always fascinated those children . . . the way the batter was dropped pancake by pancake . . . and the way the mother of that house could flip the round cakes with her long-handled pancake lifter, so both sides would acquire a rich golden brown hue.

There was a warming oven on top of that stove, too. Used sometimes for gloves, woolen mufflers, shoes . . . but at breakfast time on Pancaks Day it always held six plates, snuggled side by side, heated and ready.

As the pancakes cooked they were heaped on those plates, one at a time, until each held a stack of three or four. Then, each child took a plate to the table.

Memory brings that table back to me now. Covered with a blue and white gingham table cloth and on it slabs of golden yellow butter, tall glasses of foamy milk that had only just been delivered at the back door by the milkman, and always, a jug of REAL maple syrup sent from the relatives in far-away Ontario for such an occasion.

How many pancakes did those children eat? Well, that is all a little hazy now. Enough to remember that the mother of that house kept the pancakes coming until young appetites were satiated and the big brown mixing bowl was empty.

Then the glasses of milk would be drained, school books would be retrieved from the corner of the kitchen where they had been piled before breakfast and the three oldest children would go clattering off to school.

As I type this column for you today, the warm smell of pancakes cooked in an iron frying pan on an old-fashioned stove in a comfortable, roomy kitchen, fills my office.

I told you memory is an amazing thing!

Home From Honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jones Erb Jr. have returned from their mainland honeymoon and are now living on Esquimalt Road. The couple were married in a recent ceremony in Centennial United Church. Formerly Miss Evelyn Joan Obee, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Obee, 2671 Scott Street. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Erb, 2546 Scott Street. (Photo by Paul Joncas.)

Dr. J. R. Howey Takes Bride In Vancouver Ceremony

Of interest on Vancouver Island and on the mainland is the wedding which took place, Saturday afternoon in West Point Grey Presbyterian Church, Vancouver.

Rev. James Evans officiated at the ceremony which united in marriage Nancy Kentish-Rankin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald V. Kentish-Rankin, Vancouver, with Dr. James Robert Howey, Nanaimo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland B. Howey, 333 King George Terrace, Victoria.

The fair-haired bride, given in marriage by her father, was a picture in her afternoon-length frock of white brocade styled with pleated bodice, empire waistline and full skirt with which she wore a short jacket. A white satin jeweled cocktail hat and a bouquet of stephanotis and lily of the valley completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Marvin W. Young was matron of honor for her sister and chose an afternoon frock of muted green taffeta styled with empire waistline, gathered bodice with tiny sleeves and full skirt. Her jeweled cocktail hat was of the same material and she carried a bouquet of split pale yellow carnations and hyacinths.

Mr. Marvin W. Young was the best man and Dr. William S. Cave and Mr. Peter W. McCabe showed the guests to the pews.

At the reception which followed the toast was proposed by the bride's grandfather, Mr. Ivan Barber. On leaving the bride presented her bouquet to her grandmother, Mrs. Barber.

For a honeymoon at Timberline Lodge, Mt. Hood, Oregon, Mrs. Howey traveled in a light green and blue plaid suit, white felt hat and pigskin shoes and bag.

Dr. and Mrs. Howey will make their home at 545 Vancouver Street, Nanaimo.

COUNTESS MAY STAY AT HOME

Attend Pavilion Opening

Baskets of daffodils, forsythia and pussy willows decorated McMorran's Pavilion, Cordova Bay, Saturday evening, for the "Spring Daffodil Frolic," which marked opening of the pavilion's 1954 dancing season. Stan Cross' Orchestra played popular selections and fire-light waltzes for the many couples who danced on the new maple floor.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Madill, Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Larsen, Mr. and Mrs. William Halteen, Mr. and Mrs. James McGonigal and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Christansen.

Sharing a table for eight were Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Neil, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dennison, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Parry and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pugh. Celebrating Mr. Jim Atkin's birthday were Mrs. Atkins, Mr. and Mrs. David Codling and Mr. and Mrs. David Hawthorne.

In a party of sixteen were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lepine, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Duffy, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hicky, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pickering, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Reid, Mr. Roy Gower and Miss Margaret Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Oozero; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tuttle and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Findley attended together.

From out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Amos, Rock Bay, Vancouver Island, and Mr. and Mrs. Ian Ross, West Bridgeford, Nottingham, Eng. Another group included Mr. and Mrs. K. Foster, Miss Heather Adams, Miss Monica Frazer, Mr. M. O. Frazer and Mr. Charles G. Bale.

Dancing in a party of six were Mr. and Mrs. Anthony M. Bonnell, Mr. and Mrs. Eric W. Greenwood and Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilkinson.

Misses Donna Graham, Muriel Bousfield and Barbara Bousfield attended with their escorts, Mr. Douglas Smith, Mr. Raymond McGuiness and Mr. Douglas Mills.

Four Generations Present

There were four generations present at the christening ceremony Sunday afternoon in St. Mary's Church, when the eight-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holmes, 341 Vancouver Street, received the names Heather Maria. Archdeacon A. E. de L Nunns officiated. The baby's gown was worn by her father and two brothers for their christening ceremonies. Her godparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. May and Mrs. W. Landy, for whom Miss Betty Kerr stood proxy. Heather Maria's paternal grandmother is Mrs. Violet Holmes, and her paternal great-grandmother is Mrs. A. Manson. Both were present at the ceremony. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. G. Lukinuk, Hudson, Ont., and her maternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. D. Jurek, Winnipeg, Man. Following the ceremony, a tea was held at 341 Vancouver Street, where a christening cake was cut in honor of the occasion.

Weaving—Mrs. K. Churchill gave a talk on tapestry weaving at Victoria Hand Weavers' Guild meeting. She showed several of her own pieces and demonstrated techniques used on a tapestry loom. Many of her wools are hand spun and home dyed. Mrs. David McKechnie presided and Mrs. H. R. Clark reported progress on work for the July exhibition in the Empress Hotel. Word had also been received that at Montreal the Canadian Handicrafts Guild had awarded Mrs. Clark a ribbon for her rug sent to their recent exhibition. Mrs. Porter had won a prize and Mrs. Clark an honorable mention at the London District Weavers' Exhibition at present in progress. Other pieces that Mrs. Clark submitted were accepted and displayed in London, Ont., also. Those who have started weaving since January, 1952, will compete in a competition arranged for April. All members may enter articles in the competitions for May, which are for upholstery and napery. Prizes will be awarded in all classes.

$17,709 in Christmas Seals Sets New Record for City

The Christmas seal campaign to aid in the fight against tuberculosis has to date netted $17,709 in the Greater Victoria area, Mrs. J. U. Kimmitt, campaign chairman, said today.

This "gratifying" response, she said, is a record, and although the campaign has officially ended, returns will probably continue to come in until June.

The campaign is sponsored by the Soroptimist club and more than 18,500 appeal letters were sent out before last Christmas.

The returns, so far, represent an increase of $2,181 over last year's total.

Mulloy Leads Art Larsen

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Gardnar Mulloy, veteran Miami campaigner, held the edge over top-seeded Art Larson of San Leondro, Calif., Sunday when their finals match in the Miami invitational tennis tournament was halted by rain.

Mulloy, the defending champion and the third-ranked player in the tournament, won the first set 6-2. Larsen had a 3-2 lead in the second set, with Mulloy's service coming up, when play was postponed until today.

Mulloy eliminated Lorne Main of Toronto and Vancouver Saturday, defeating the veteran Canadian 6-4, 6-3.

In a doubles match, Mulloy and Larsen defeated Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., and Malcolm Fox of Baltimore 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

THIS WAS THE UNKINDEST CUT

ELMIRA, Ont. (BUP) — A final goal scored by the goalkeeper of the Elmira Polar Bears was the final humiliation suffered by the Georgetown Raiders as they absorbed a 10-6 beating in an intermediate OHA game here Saturday night.

Goalie Dennis Mooney skated up to the Raider defense, passed to his wing man, took a return pass and blazed a waist-high shot into the net.

French Rail Crash Kills 9, Injures 14

TOULOUSE, France (AP)—Nine persons were killed and 14 injured Sunday when a cog railway train packed with Sunday skiers was derailed as it sped down a steep grade in the French Pyrenees mountains. ... said the train's brakes failed 3,700 feet up the mountain as it was returning skiers from a run in the mountains to Luchon on the Luchon-Super-Bagneres line.

The speeding train jumped the tracks, skidded over a pile of rocks, then plunged into a 1,500-foot ravine.

CHANGES MADE — Charlotte McLeod, 26, an American who claims to be former soldier, said she followed Christine Jorgensen's example and was changed by Danish doctors from man to woman. She is shown above at Copenhagen, Denmark, where she announced she hopes to write a book to raise money for one more operation.

McVIE PHOTO AGAIN WINS GOLD MEDAL

One of three top awards of the Rochester, New York, Salon of Photography, was won by James A. McVie, Victoria camera artist.

A picture of the milking contest, taken during the 1953 Calgary stampede, won for him the Rochester gold medal.

The photograph, entitled "Stampede," has been exhibited in 14 international salons, and has received two special mentions in the Cleveland salon, and the Cleveland Gold Medal for the best picture during 1953.

Vancouver Thieves Net $600 in Week-End Robberies

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Police reported today that burglars escaped with $600 in cash and goods in Vancouver during the week-end.

Axe-wielding safecrackers got away with some $300 in cash from a downtown theatre after sawing through an iron-barred window to get into the building. They tipped over the safe and chopped a hole in the back with a fire axe.

In another break-in, thieves looted a Granville Street store of $300 in electrical appliances. They forced one door and broke the glass in another.

CROONER BACK IN MOVIES

Rudy Vallee's Home Shrine to Himself

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Rudy Vallee has turned his house into a virtual shrine to his fabulous career, making his hilltop mansion the most fantastic star's home in the cinema city.

"The world's first crooner" is back in pictures after four years of touring night clubs, and to honor this he took me on tour of his Spanish green stucco mansion high in the Hollywood hills.

RUDY VALLEE

Rudy Vallee! The very name brings memories of a megaphone, wavy hair, striped blazer and a Yale boy softly singing "The Stein Song" while a banjo plunks in the background. His house furthers the legend.

His doorbell chimes play "My Time Is Your Time," the theme song of his radio show from 1928 to 1949. Other music boxes in his house play "Blue Room," "Good-night Sweetheart" and other Vallee hits. A revolving driveway turns your car around outside the garage. By the front steps is a sign, "Only inconsiderate people throw cigarette stubs on the ground. Others look for ash trays."

Vallee shows his old movies in a projection room in the house that sprawls over many levels. Another room holds 220 scrapbooks on the Vallee career, beginning with the programs of his college dance band and letters from his first broadcast.

"I'm the kind of a guy who saves things, a New England string-saver," he said, carefully straightening a crooked picture.

He chuckled he didn't mind "perpetuating the myth" that he's saved his first dollar, too.

Walls of a block-long gallery are covered with framed sheet music of tunes such as "Little White Lilies" and programs from his broadcasts. There are photographs of Rudy in George White's "Scandals," Rudy in the movies and Rudy singing behind those old-fashioned round microphones with holes on the edges. A sign labels the gallery, "Rue De Vallee."

Twelve years ago the Vallees moved into the house, built by actress Ann Harding in 1933. Other walls are covered with old Christmas cards from the '30's and cocktail napkins featuring his caricatures. Storerooms hold his radio scripts, $500,000 in orchestrations, and two old saxophones, one from a man "who had refused to let me play at a Yale dance." The only picture I found not of Vallee was an autographed photo of former President Truman.

Vallee said he plans to retire at 55. "But first, there's talk about a movie of my life. I'd like to play the role myself. I'm 53, but after a good night's sleep I look 45.

Ford Labor Dispute Goes to Conciliation

TORONTO (BUP) — The Ontario Labor Relations Board has granted an application of the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) for conciliation services in contract negotiations with Ford of Canada at Windsor.

The conciliation officer to be appointed by the department of labor will try to bring together the 10,000 members of local 200, who want a 30 cent an hour raise and 27 cents in fringe benefits, and Ford which offered a four cent increase.

CONFEDERATION LODGE
No. 116, A.F. & A.M.

An emergent communication of Confederation Lodge has been called for 2.15 p.m. on Tuesday, March 2, 1954, at the Masonic Temple, for the purpose of conducting funeral services of the late Worshipful Brother, Robert Taylor of the Coronation Lodge No. 72, G.R.A. Members of sister lodges and sojourning brethren in good Masonic standing are invited to be in attendance. Funeral from McCall's to Colwood Cemetery. By order of the worshipful master.—E. A. Merrett, P.M., Secretary.

5 CARDS OF THANKS

Words cannot express the deep feeling of comfort I experienced during recent illness and loss of my young son, Lawrence. My sincere thanks to Dr. A. J. Johnston and the Nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital for their devoted care; to the officers and members of the Canadian Scottish Cadets for their personal attendance at the funeral; to the patients and staff of Mount St. Mary for their tangible sympathy and to Mr. J. E. Chaplin for his personal interest and financial aid. In gratitude.—Mrs. Vera Howarth.

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends for their kindness during the loss of our beloved husband and father.—Mrs. H. J. Smith and family.

6 IN MEMORIAM

WORMALD—In loving memory of Fred, only brother, who died two years ago today.

I came to Jesus as I was weary and worn and sad and found in Him a resting place and He has made me glad.

—Mother and Elsie Griswald.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

"The bread and butter of the doubling business is the double of a low contract." This statement, a quotation from my brand-new book, "What's New in Bridge," introduces the highly important subject of Doubles of Low contracts.

The hand shown today, also taken from the book, gives a typical example. This is the sort of situation that occurs in play several times per session.

East opened the bidding with one spade, and South made an overcall of two clubs. West happened to be an expert, so he doubled.

It doesn't look like a killer's double, does it? The average player would probably bid instead of doubling, and South would be off the hook. West might wind up playing the hand at game in hearts or no-trump or spades but might even stop at a part score. The double is more lucrative.

Let's suppose that West doubles and everybody passes. West opens the nine of spades, dummy covers with the 10, and East wins with the jack. East returns the jack of hearts, South puts up the king, and West takes the ace and queen of hearts.

West then leads his remaining spade, and East wins another finesse. East cashes the 10 of hearts and leads the king of diamonds. The fall of the cards is highly revealing, so East cashes the queen of diamonds.

By now the defenders have picked the corpse clean. South is down to his trumps, and a cold winter wind is blowing. East leads the ace of spades, and South dares not ruff high. (If he does, he will surely lose two trump tricks to West.)

South therefore ruffs with the eight, and West overruffs with the nine. West leads the 13th heart, and East obligingly "upercuts" by ruffing with the 10 of clubs. South must overruff, and now West is assured of his second trump trick.

South is down four. It doesn't matter who's vulnerable; the penalty is worth more than the game that East-West might or might not bid.

BY BILL PARKER

Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace will open the 1954 Red Cross Campaign in British Columbia with a special broadcast to B.C. listeners at 8 o'clock tonight over CBU. During the program, [illegible] will discuss the aims and achievements of the Red Cross organization.

Tuesday night, the CBC has scheduled a national Red Cross Show to aid the campaign. Originating in Toronto, the program will be aired over CBU at 6 p.m.

Television viewers shold be sure to watch the Studio One production over CBUT tonight.

"Dark Possession" will star Geraldine Fitzgerald, Barbara O'Neil and Leslie Nielson.

A physchological mystery set in the year 1911, "Dark Possession" is the tale of three sisters taught in a web of fear, attacked by poison-pen letters and ... but then, why don't you turn it on and find out for yourself?

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

TUESDAY, MARCH 2, 1954

ARIES (March 21 to April 20) — Doing unusual little courtesies for your family, improving your residence, making others realize you sincerely appreciate any extended, you release all favors you can possibly use.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — Communication, comment from another opens unthought means by which your fondest aims can be now secured, so go along with them; fine also for jaunts to achieve sensible results.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Keeping your attention so channelled on performing your duties right that you do corking good job is noticed, unobtrusively, by one in authority who later extends you big favor.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) — Desire to spend more than you can afford on elusive, temporary pleasure should be controlled, your energies placed in completing tasks to free time for soon-to-be-released big opportunities.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Try to get away from routine chores that are not absolutely necessary and pressing, use time enjoying satisfactory delights that bring peace, confentment. Be thoughtful, considerate.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Others keep you stirred up between some creative work, expenses and pleasures—all of which appeal but can not be done at same time; parcel your hours intelligently so you lose nothing right now. Be co-operative. Smile.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22)—Surprise favor, meeting with official, public acclaim or charming compliment apt to leave you speechless but you'd better take advantage of this for much gain quickly follows. Be smart.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21)—You are all stirred up about business, increasing your income but you'd better take some time off to listen to what devoted attachment says about investments, hobby pleasures or taxes.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21)—Day grows progressively better for you, after poor, tiresome a.m.; late p.m. fine for almost anything you want to do; keep midnight oil burning, planning your future with care.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Many delays appear to haunt your efforts where attaining long-range aims are concerned, but seeking answers in newspapers, etc., yields rich harvest of ways to end deadlock and get swifter action.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — At last you endeavor to make daily duties coincide with bank accounts, expenses to be met and income available, so set up practical, workable system for it can serve you well for long time to come.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — If you handle higher-ups with real diplomacy, you can advance toward aims that have been stalemated for awhile by frown from one on whose toes your plan has unconsciously trod. P.M. have fun with compatible comrades.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY . . .

Tuesday's child is one of those very unusual individuals who has many opportunities in life which can be met, overcome and great success resulting if it is recognized that delays and hinderances occurring in early life are for purpose of giving your progeny the experience by which later tests will be met in confidence and from that former training. Good for work in almost any line of endeavour in which your offspring becomes interested. Just give fine basic education and life will take care of the rest.

HOW TO GET MORE FOR YOUR HOUSING DOLLAR
You will be absolutely amazed when you see these six different homes built to the N.H.A. End Price ... monthly payment, the down payment, the design, construction materials, in fact, after looking at other listed homes for sale you will say it is unbelievable. Maybe your reaction is—I've seen N.H.A. homes and they certainly were not low priced. We agree wholeheartedly with you—BUT—have you seen an N.H.A. END PRICE home? An N.H.A. END PRICE HOME is a home built to all N.H.A. standards and—here is the most important factor—built to the exceptionally low price as set by the Central Mortgaging and Housing Corporation. A Price so low that only the most efficient contractor, who can save money through bulk purchases, long-term subcontracting, can eke out a small profit. Some say it's impossible—we can prove it is possible—WE have never had a home buyer who has been anything but perfectly satisfied. You can see for yourself but you've got to contact us—the saving is yours so please make an appointment now. Phone B 9411—We have a 24-hour telephone answering service for your convenience.

Times Crossword Contest
$75 in Cash
TWO WINNERS LAST WEEK

THE RULES
Solve the clues as you would any crossword puzzle. Clip out the dotted form and mail it to The Times Crosswords c/o The Victoria Daily Times.
You can send in as many entries as you like, in one envelope but they must be on the form printed in the paper. Facsimiles will NOT be permitted. The puzzle will be printed on Fridays, Saturdays and Mondays.
All answers must be received by the morning mail of Wednesday.
Be sure to clip on the dotted line. This is for the convenience of tallying entries.

EARLY MAILING WILL BE APPRECIATED
The answer will be printed in Friday's paper each week. It will be a good idea to keep a record of your solution and compare it with the answer.

PRIZES
Anyone may enter with the exception of employees of Victoria Press Ltd. and their families.
A prize of $25 will be paid for solving the puzzle. If there is more than one winner the prize will be divided.

BONUS
If the winner is a regular daily subscriber to The Times by carrier or mail a special bonus of $50 will be paid in addition to the regular prize. When there is no winner this bonus will increase at the rate of $25 per week until a winner is found. When there is more than one winner the current bonus will be divided.
This week's prize is $25, plus a $50 bonus.
Study the clues carefully before you write down your answers. There is always one answer which is best. The decision of the judges in the contest will be final and all contestants taking part agree to abide by their decisions.

With incomparable views this very modern home just grows out of its beautiful rock garden complete with pocket handkerchief lawns, fish pool and barbecue. The split level main floor area consists of a delightful living room with birch panelled fireplace wall and a 9-foot plate glass mirror above the mantel. The fine wall-to-wall broadloom carpeting extends into a full-suite dining room which has a semi glass-enclosed porch patio leading off. Also provided is an informal breakfast-dining area with eastern exposure. There is a spacious den with fireplace and built-in features—this room being sufficiently large for television, which is particularly well received. The kitchen is bright and sunny and complete in every detail and there is a two-piece washroom off. A full four-piece bathroom serves the large master bedroom and another bedroom which opens on to a small veranda. The lower level of this home consists of two large bedrooms with built-in features, washroom, laundry room, trunk room and large double garage. Heating is automatic oil forced hot air. The house is insulated and only the finest materials were used in construction. The price asked is fully supported by the value offered and we will be pleased to show this beautiful home if you telephone the office—telephone now. Price $27,775

Martin ordered the galleries cleared. All but members were ordered off the crowded floor in order to give first aid squads more room to work.

Members and attendants all pitched in to help carry the wounded members out and to summon aid. Postmaster-General Arthur E. Summerfield, who was just off the House floor, lent a hand in trying to make the bleeding Bentley comfortable as he lay in the well of the House.

Davis, shot in the leg, was the last to be carried from the House floor after being given first aid.

William Keevey of Quincy, Mass., said he entered the gallery just ahead of the Puerto Rican group. He said he did not get much of a look at them.

"They were just behind me," he said. "The first thing I knew the woman stood up and started shouting. Itsounded like 'Viva' or something like that. Then they started shooting."

One bullet that hit Bentley went directly through his body. It entered the right side just below the ribs and emerged at a similar spot on the other side. He also was hit in the left leg by another bullet.

All three of the gun-wielding attackers appeared to be Puerto Ricans, although their dark skins at first gave rise to belief they were Mexicans, since the House was considering a controversial Mexican labor bil.l

The two men were young—apparently about 20—and slim.

They were dark haired, as was the girl, who also appeared to be about 20.

One of the marksmen, as he was hauled away by police, gave his nam eas Rafael Cancel. He said he was from Puerto Rico.

"Why did you do it?" a reporter demanded.

Cancel did not reply.

SHIPS AND MEN

Frigates Bound Here

Training fleet of the Pacific Coast command will be up to full strength again April 1, when the modernized frigates HMC ships New Glasgow and Stettler arrive here from the east coast.

They will replace HMC Ships Beacon Hill and Antigonish, now in the hands of private shipyards here for extensive modernization.

New Glasgow left Halifax Saturday, Stettler today. They will rendezvous in the Caribbean in mid-March, reach Balboa March 17, and proceed through the canal and up the west coast in company for an ETA of April 1.

When HMCS Ontario returns from her Antipodean cruise April 15, the training fleet here will have one cruiser, one destroyer, and two frigates ready for the summer program.

Somewhat more than the traditional hatfull of wind blew for Victoria and Vancouver frostbiters Sunday. In fact, the wind was so strong it blew the tiny craft over on their sides, while they were still parked on the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club floats.

Result: No Sunday racing for the inter-club Davidson trophy—so the Royal Victoria Club's Saturday victories gave the locals their third straight win, 290 points to 244.

Since the series opened in 1951, Vancouver has chalked up only one win.

But the mainland sailors will have a chance for revenge here in a two-day series, March 13 and 14.

British shipbuilders may be justifiably worried about future orders, but they appear to be busy enough at the present time.

"Hull 646," which will eventually become the CPR's new, big Nanaimo-Vancouver ferry, is emerging from the planning stage at the Clydeside firm of Alexander Stephen & Sons.

But hull 646 will have to wait for a keelway to be cleared before the major portion of the work gets under way.

Meanwhile, a shell model has been built, and a scale wax model is undergoing tank-tests at the National Physical Laboratory, Teddington. The keel is being built in sections, pending berth space in the shipyard.

D. B. Prentice of Victoria, superintendent engineer of B.C. Coast Steamship Service of the CPR in charge of construction, is in Glasgow to supervise.

The new ship will gross 7,000 tons, be equipped to handle "anything on wheels," from cars and trucks to railway box cars, at a service speed of 15½ knots.

462 DIVORCES TO BE HEARD

Nancy's Senate Job Proves Major Task

By NORMAN McLEOD

OTTAWA—No less than 462 applications for divorce have been filed so far this session with Parliament. That is an all-time record figure. Last year's total was 282.

The situation constitutes one of Parliament Hill's minor mysteries. So far no one has come up with a satisfactory explanation of the year's sudden jump in the statistics of marital disasters. The rotation of men coming home from service in the Canadian overseas forces in Korea and West Germany has contributed to the rise, but only in a minor degree. The great bulk of the cases are civilian.

Normally the peak of divorce in Canada has occurred in the past after periods of war. Absence of husbands on prolonged periods of overseas service apparently imposes toq great a strain on many marriage ties. But the peak of parliamentary divorce after the Second World War came in 1950, with a total of just 350 applications to the Senate divorce committee. Since that year the decline has been steady—until this year's sudden bulge in the statistics.

UNUSUAL INTEREST

Incidentally, the Senate committee which sits upon the divorce applications to parliament is being watched this year with unusual interest. The reason is the presence on the committee, for the first time since Confederation, of a woman member.

She is Hon. Nancy Hodges, recent appointee to the Senate from British Columbia. One of the most versatile recruits to the thinning ranks of the Upper House in a long time, Mrs. Hodges is noted for having combined successfully over her lifetime the often conflicting and always exacting careers of housewife, journalist and legislator.

She became the first woman Speaker in British legislative history when she was elected to the Speaker's Chair in the B.C. Legislature in 1949. She was for 26 years Women's Editor of the Victoria Daily Times and contributed to write a daily column for that paper up to her appointment to the Senate. At the time of her retirement as columnist she had written a total of 2,550 daily columns. When she announced that she was laying down her pen, her fan mail greatly exceeded by a wide margin the number of columns she had written.

One of the most frequent criticisms of the Senate Divorce Committee through the years has been its lack of a woman member. That defect now is remedied, and the individual selected is a thoroughly forceful and competent personality. Parliamentary observers are watching with interest, in consequence, to see what effect the woman's touch is going to have on the granting of divorces.

Cricket Fans Toss Bottles At Georgetown

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (Reuters) — An incensed crowd threw hundreds of bottles onto the ground in the closing stages of Saturday's play in the third cricket test between England and the West Indies at the Bourda oval here.

They appeared to be aimed in the direction of one of the umpires who had declared Clifford McWatt, West Indies batsman, run out after Peter May, Surrey player, had made a splendid throw-in.

When the day's play ended West Indies were 241 for nine in reply to England's 435.

The incident came when McWatt and John Holt were trying for a run which would have made their eight-wicket stand worth 100.

Ken Wishart, the British Guiana secretary, who is also secretary of the West Indies board of control, said: "The scene was diskusting. I have never seen anything like it."

Play was continued only after a local official went on the field to speak to Len Hutton, England's captain, who seemed to be on the point of walking off.

A grand innings of 94 by Everton Weekes, and a fighting, if lucky, half-century by McWatt, saved West Indies from early dismissal.

Second Power Failure Blacks Out Glasgow

GLASGOW (Reuters)—About half of Glasgow's 1,000,000 population went without electricity today following two mysterious week-end explosions which wrecked Dalmarnock power station, the city's main generating centre.

Two senior detectives inspected the burned-out switch gear this morning. Meanwhile, electricians continued patching special circuits to supply power to rail signal stations, bakeries and hospitals.

Practically the whole of Glasgow's east end and large parts of the south were without power.

$20,000 FIRE SWEEPS OYAMA RANCH HOUSES

KELOWNA (BUP)—Damage was estimated today at $20,000 in a fire that destroyed the main ranch buildings of the Lequime guest ranch at Oyama, B.C., Sunday.

No one was injured.

Owner A. N. Cushing said he found the kitchen in flames.

He wakened his wife and both escaped through an upstairs window. Cause of the blaze was not known.

CANADIAN TOBACCO

Tobacco growing areas in Canada are mainly confined to Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia.

BLAST KILLS FIVE IN PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Five persons, including three children in a neighborhood lunchroom, were killed Sunday night when a violent explosion destroyed two buildings in a crowded section of south Philadelphia.

A 17-year-old girl, trapped for six hours in a public telephone booth under the mountain of rubble, escaped unharmed. Twenty others, including four firemen, were injured.

The blast, of undetermined origin, occurred in one of the most densely populated areas of the city. The roofs of two adjoining three-storey brick buildings were lifted into the air, turned halfway around and dropped on the rear of the structure. Not a wall was standing when firemen arrived and flames licked at the pile of debris.

South Koreans Demonstarte for Unification

PUSAN (AP)—South Korea observed a patriotic holiday today with mass demonstrations calling for unification. President Syngman Rhee again threatened to march north unless the Communists pull out of South Korea.

Rhee spoke to some 30,000 persons in a steady drizzle here. In Seoul, another 30,000 mostly students, jammed an athletic field waving banners reading, "Let us march north immediately to save our brethren."

The day was the 35th anniversary of the March of Independence in 1919 when thousands of Koreans protested Japanese occupation and the Japanese cracked down bloodily.

Four ways to get a
NIAGARA LOAN

Need money? Then the four different ways you can borrow at Niagara Finance will interest you.

First, domestic loans . . . These are sometimes called 'husband-and-wife' loans—they alone sign—it is arranged in about 24 to 36 hours and enjoys widespread popularity amongst Canadian couples.

Second, car or truck loans. Here's one of the fastest ways to borrow money. It's very easy to handle, both from your point of view and ours. Motor owners can apply by mail or in person. Only the owner of the car and truck need sign. Details are often completed in as short a time as 10 minutes.

Third, loans on business equipment . . . Businessmen like this service because it is fast and trouble-free. The business equipment acts as a backing and loans are made in accordance with value. Only the owner needs to sign . . . an excellent answer for temporary financial shortages.

Fourth, loans on farm machinery—stock . . . These loans have been especially designed for farmers' needs. And of importance to them—seasonal payment plans are available on loans over $500. Such loans are completed with little delay.

Besides loan plans which fit the needs of almost everyone, there are two good reasons for you to pick Niagara Finance for money requirements. Loans to $1500 are life insured at no extra cost to you. And rates on many Niagara loans are lower . . . in other words, you get more for your money! For full information, just drop in anytime or phone.

Army Officer To Hang for Killing CWAC

Peter Balcombe To Die May 25

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP)—Second Lieut. Peter Balcombe, 24-year-old officer in the 4th Canadian Guards, Saturday was found guilty of the murder of a vivacious 21-year-old CWAC Reserve Army sergeant and was sentenced to be hanged here May 25.

Balcombe, married and the father of two children, accepted the sentence with the same impassivity he displayed throughout the six-day trial.

Asked by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario Supreme Court if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, Balcombe, immaculate in his army officer's uniform, said: "I have not, my lord."

He was taken to the county jail after Chief Justice McRuer pronounced sentence. He has been a prisoner there since Oct. 19, a day after his arrest near London, Ont., and three days after the naked, stabbed body of Marie Anne Carrier of Bienville in the Quebec City area was found in a ditch 35 miles west of here.

"I think you will agree with me that whoever stabbed Anne Carrier twice in the breast, once in the abdomen and several other wounds meant to cause her death or bodily injury he knew was likely to cause her death," Chief Justice McRuer said in his charge to the jury.

"Why was a married man giving Anne Carrier an engagement ring?" his lordship asked.

The crown called 27 witnesses, the defense six.

Evidence was that Balcombe kept company early last year was a typist in a Levis bank and was attached to a reserve army unit in Quebec City.

Members of the girl's family testified that Balcombe gave her a ring and offered to divorce his wife and marry her but that she refused him.

Girls in White Play 'Weird Sisters'

A group of Royal Jubilee Hospital student nurses have been spending off-hours rehearsing an entry for the Southern Vancouver Island Drama Festival, which opens on Tuesday night in Oak Bay Junior High School auditorium. Their play is a whimsical and mysterious piece called "The Case of the Weird Sisters." Seen in rehearsal are, left to right, Willine Loadman, Irene Hayward, Rosemary Farmer, Janet MacKenzie and Edith Oldham. The play is being directed by Pauline Morrish.

THOUSANDS FAIL TO RECOGNIZE DUKE AT WHEEL

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh, wearing sports clothes and dark sun glasses, drove unrecognized through the packed streets of Melbourne Sunday.

Thousands admiring the city's decorations took no notice of the car which left Government House through a rear gate. The Duke was at the wheel. He had with him his private secretary, Lt.-Cmdr. Michael Parker and Parker's brother, Peter, whose home is in Melbourne.

They drove to the Naval and Military Club, played squash for about an hour, then back to Government House — and again nobody took any notice.

BEST ON CONTINENT?

Northwest Excels For Plant-Growing

By JACK BEASTALL

A predection that the Pacific Northwest, including southern British Columbia, could, and likely will, become the plant-growing area of the North American continent, if not of the entire world, was made by G. E. W. Clarke, supervising horticulturist from Abbotsford, at the nurserymen's convention held recently in Vancouver.

A full report on Mr. Clarke's address was given to the V. I. Association of Nurserymen and Allied Trades at their regular monthly meeting by Mrs. Agnes Christiansen, delegate to the convention.

Mr. Clarke stressed the need for proper organization now, and co-operation amongst growers, to lay the foundations of a great industry, but warned that high standards of production must be set and maintained.

Also stressed was the need for better plantings around commercial establishments. Since the West Coast is a tourist centre such plantings would be an additional attraction to tourists, and an incentive for them to become permanent residents of the area.

SERVED WINDSOR, MOUNTBATTEN

Duke's Ex-Valet Fired For Writing Articles

OTTAWA (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh's former valet says he has been fired from his latest job because of a series of articles he has written about the Queen's husband.

John Dean, 33-year-old head butler to Sir Archibald Nye, Britain's high commissioner to Canada, packed his bags Saturday. He said Sir Archibald fired him because of the articles appearing in a London publication, the Sunday Pictorial. Sir Archibald could not be reached for comment.

The sandy-haired butler isn't bitter. He said he realized when he first sat down to write the articles some months ago that he might be asked to leave Sir Archibald's service.

"NO FUTURE"

But after serving his present employer, as well as Lord Mountbatten, the Duke of Windsor and the Duke of Edinburgh, Dean concluded there is no "future" in being a butler. He plans to take a job in the business world after his articles are compiled in book form.

A veteran of the RAF who served in Canada as an air force clerk during the Second World War, Dean plans to holiday in Canada for a month before returning to London.

'DOWN TO EARTH'

Dean became a nursery footman to Lord Mountbatten at the age of 16. He was footman to the Duke of Windsor in 1938-39 and after the Second World War, returned to the Mountbatten home, this time as butler. When Lord Mountbatten was appointed viceroy to India in 1947, the Duke of Edinburgh asked Dean to be his personal valet.

Dean found the duke a "down-to-earth guy." The duke preferred sports clothes, had a healthy appetite and was particularly fond of fish dishes. He took a drink now and then and at first frowned on all formal functions he had to attend. But he gradually got to enjoy them and "I really think he likes to be on display now," Dean said.

Pre-Lenten Festival Held by Danish Group

The Danish-Canadian Society held its annual "fastelavnsfest" Saturday night at a gala celebration in Norway House.

The party is an annual event in Denmark, held on the last Monday in February, the last festival before Lent.

Nearly 150 children and adults, some costumed in fancy dress and a few in traditional Danish garb, attended the festivities.

Funeral Services Today for City Florist's Wife

Funeral services for Mrs. Jeanie Dempster of 3371 Shelbourne, a resident of Victoria for 44 years, were scheduled today from McCall Bros.' Chapel.

Mrs. Dempster came here with her husband and seven children in 1910, at which time the wholesale flower business of Dempster Bros., 1940 Ernest Avenue, was founded.

She is survived by her husband, John; three daughters, Mrs. C. Barrieau and Mrs. William Brown, both of Victoria, and Mrs. S. Blackburn of Nanaimo, and five sons, Thomas, John, William, James and Scott, all of Victoria.

Conservative Wins Newfoundland Seat

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—W. J. Browne, Progressive Conservative candidate in the St. John's West by-election, was elected to the provincial legislature when no other candidate filed nomination papers Saturday.

He replaces P. J. Cashin, also a Progressive Conservative, who resigned his provincial seat to run in the last federal election as an independent. Standing in the legislature now is 12 Liberals and five Progressive Conservatives.

False Teeth Need A Special Cleanser
Don't Brush Your Plates! Soak Them in Polident As Dentists Suggest
Polident is the recommended way to clean dentures, banish Denture Breath. Just follow these easy rules.
1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.
2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath".
3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only . . . Polident! Polident cleanser is recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates. Polident gets where a brush can't reach.
Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter. D 133

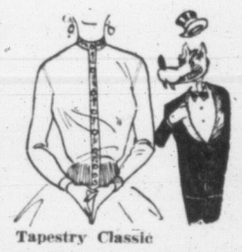
What's New at Eaton's
Once upon a time, Little Red Riding Hood, who works in a government office and is very fashion conscious, went to see Grand'mere who is a respected fashion authority and lives here at EATON'S. As Little Red Riding Hood walked through our crowded store and reached Grand'mere's counter, she stopped in surprise and said, "But Grand'mere, what beautiful ribbon collars you're wearing!" And Grand'mere said "All the better to look charming, my dear!" "But, Grand'mere, what beautiful colours you have!" and Grand'mere answered "All the better to tempt you with, my dear!" And it turned out Grand'mere was a sweater in lambs' clothing (lambswool that is) with indeed some unusual disguises that would draw wolf-er-whistles from the stag line anywhere.

Grand'mere Goes Casual
In this cap-sleeved pullover with the free and open grosgrain collar. The contrasting ribbon trim on this sweater, Grand'mere informed Little Red Riding Hood, is the same as on all the ribbon trimmed sweaters . . exquisite Italian tapestry ribbon, sometimes on grosgrain ribbon, sometimes by itself. Comes in grey and spring pastels, in sizes 12 to 20. Each 6.95



Tapestry Classic
No "Babe in the Woods" is this classic long-sleeved cardigan . . . bound with Italian ribbon and buttoned with matching pearl-toned buttons. Turquoise, black, pink, blue, white and navy. Sizes 12 to 20. Each 9.95

Little Red Riding Hood loves this young little go-everywhere cardigan with its grosgrain collar edged with Italian ribbon, it's fashionable three-quarter length sleeves and it's pearly buttons. Comes in white and pastels, with contrasting collars. Sizes 12 to 20. Each 8.95

Daring Decollete
But Grand'mere what a daring neckline! All the better for important evenings, my dear! This scoop neck pullover has a deep yoke of hand-crocheted wool lace . . . actually done by Quebec craftswomen whose art has been handed down generation to generation. Comes in white, beige, black and pastels. Sizes 16 to 20. Each 7.95

Demure and Lacy
Even demure girls like Little Red Riding Hood would wear this Grand'mere on both sides of 5 p.m. The deep hand crocheted lace yoke fits snugly about your throat, lends a dewy-eyed look to daytime and evening fashions. Short sleeves . . . in black only . . . sizes 16 to 20. Also available in a short-sleeved cardigan style, black and white with dyed-to-match buttons. Each 7.95

21 Die in Sudan As Tribes Riot

More Than 100 Wounded as 30,000 Demonstrate Against Naguib Visit

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Police bullets beat off a wild attack on the British Governor-General's residence today by yelling Sudanese tribesmen brandishing steel-tipped spears in a demonstration against visiting Egyptian President Mohammed Naguib.

At least 21 persons were reported killed, including the British police commander, Col. H. S. McGuigan, and six of his men. More than 100 persons were wounded, 30 of them critically. Authoritative sources reported the Sudanese police chief, Brig. Martada el Mahdi, among the victims.

The clash came after more than 30,000 demonstrators agitating for and against Naguib massed in the capital. Members of the pro-independence Umma party, brandishing spears and shouting anti-British and anti-Egyptian slogans, marched on the home of Governor-General Sir Robert Howe, where Naguib was being entertained after his arrival by plane from Cairo.

SEVEN SPEARED TO DEATH

Sudanese police, under British officers, first tossed tear gas grenades at the pressing crowd and then opened fire when the tribesmen charged with outthrust spears. The seven slain policemen fell before the spear charge.

Naguib came here with Egyptian Guidance Minister Slah Salem for the inaugural session today of the Sudan's first parliament. After the fighting, the governor-general announced the ceremony would be postponed indefinitely. Salem was one of the men who helped engineer Naguib's ouster last week.

The police bullets sent the tribesmen, who had marched under waving red and green banners bearing the white crescent of Umma, fleeing for shelter. Hundreds barricaded themselves behind the iron fence surrounding the home of Sir Sayed Abdel Rahman El Mahdi, leader of the Umma party and head of the Ansari Moslem religious sect.

The government declared a state of emergency in the tense city as ambulances carried the victims of the clash to hospitals. With army jeeps and trucks patrolling the streets, the government also served an ultimatum on El Mahdi that he send his supporters out of Khartoum before dark or be held responsible for the consequences.

Atassy, 80, Restored As Syrian Leader

DAMASCUS, Syria (UP)—Eighty-year-old Hasham El Atassy entered this ancient capital in triumph as president today after new riots which raised the toll in five days of revolution to at least 12 killed.

Restored to the leadership from which he had been ousted in 1951, Atassy rode into Damascus at the head of a long procession of automobiles carrying leaders of the revolt that threw out dictator Adib Shishekly.

It was expected that Atassy would announce a new government this afternoon.

Atassy came from the provincial city of Homs, 90 miles north of Damascus, where he had forged an uneasy truce between the army rebels who ousted Shishekly and supporters of the dictator, now a refugee in Saudi Arabia.

The new president was welcomed at the city gates by the mayor and government and army leaders.

Big crowds welcomed him with posters proclaiming their loyalty. Damascus was calm but tense.

Balcombe to Appeal

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP)—Second Lieut. Peter Balcombe, 24, convicted Saturday of murder in the October stabbing of a 21-year-old girl from the Quebec City district and sentenced to be hanged May 25, plans to appeal, his lawyer said today. (See story, Page 24.)

MLAs To Hear Dobeson Story

Sask. Mother Kills 3 in Family, Suicides

Husband, Son, Daughter All Die In Prairie Farmhouse Tragedy

ROCANVILLE, Sask. (CP)—A triple murder and suicide were reported by RCMP today in this border town 123 miles east of Regina.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Effie M. Hewitt, 49; her husband, Cyrus; a son, Basil, 19, and a daughter, Elaine, 15. Another daughter, Carol, 12, was slightly wounded.

RCMP said Mrs. Hewitt shot other members of the family and then turned the gun on herself.

RCMP said Carol, after being wounded, was kept by her mother in the Hewitt home all night and then ordered to notify the neighbors this morning.

The girl said she heard a shot when she was about 100 yards from the house. Neighbors found the four dead persons sprawled throughout the home.

U.S. Senate Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today confirmed President Eisenhower's appointment of Earl Warren as chief justice of the United States.

A Montreal firm of naval architects and marine surveyors has written City Council, offering a fire boat for sale.

The firm, Milne, Gilmore and German, says it has heard Victoria is in the market for a fire-boat and believes the 117-foot, steel-hulled James Battle would fit the bill.

KEEP RED CROSS READY THEME OF 800 WORKERS

Symbol of preparedness, of mercy and goodwill—a blood red cross on a pure white field—was run up the Causeway flagstaff this morning in a simple, brief ceremony.

And as the flag of the Canadian Red Cross unfurled over Victoria at 9 a.m., 800 volunteer canvassers stepped out in a month-long drive to collect $72,000 under the slogan, "Keep Your Red Cross Ready." (See story, Page 13).

Nehru Orders U.S. Out of Kashmir

Angry Indian Leader Rejects U.S. Aid; 'Contrary to Principles of UN Charter'

NEW DELHI, India (UP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru today demanded angrily that American observers get out of disputed Kashmir, and attacked the United States for making alliances which he said bypassed the United Nations.

Nehru's ire was aroused by the United States agreement to extend military aid to India's neighbor, Pakistan.

The Indian prime minister bluntly rejected President Dwigh D. Eisenhower's offer of similar arms aid to India. He said it was an invitation to Indians to be "hypocrites and unprincipled opportunists."

He told a cheering session of parliament that if India objects to extension of U.S. arms aid to Pakistan, she cannot accept such aid for herself.

UN BREACH

Nehru said he personally doubted whether such regional military alliances conform to the United Nations charter.

"These separate talks between countries are in the nature of military alliances," Nehru said. "It is up to us to consider how much they are in consonance with the spirit of the United Nations charter . . .

"Also it has become rather significant how discussions of vital matters affecting world peace have avoided the United Nations General Assembly, and when something is discussed previous decisions have been taken which almost appear to be imposed upon the General Assembly.

"That, I submit, is not the way either to work the United Nations or fulfill the purposes of the charter or remove tensions in world."

Russia Scores Third Ice Victory

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Russia remained unbeaten by defeating Germany 6-2 in the world hockey championships today. The Russian team, Moscow Dynamos, now has a 3-0 record in the round-robin, eight-team tournament.

Czechoslovakia, which has also won three and lost none, previously had beaten the Germans 9-4. The Czechs today swamped Finland 12-1.

For two periods today the Russian-German game was extremely close. The Dynamos had a 1-0 lead in the first period and made it 2-1 in the second, 4-1 in the third period

Canada was to face Sweden tonight in the other match scheduled today.

Two easy week-end victories boosted Toronto East York's stock against Sweden's defending champions, who didn't have to face Canadian, Czech or Russian opposition in winning last year's title.

The Canadians rolled to an 8-1 victory over Switzerland Saturday and followed up by blanking Norway 8-0. The Swedes kept pace with victories over Norway and Finland, but needed three goals in the last 10 minutes Sunday to subdue the stubborn Finns, 5-3.

Two Seriously Hurt; Police Arrest Three

WASHINGTON (UP)—A girl shouting "Free Puerto Rico" and two men opened fire with pistols on Congressmen in the House of Representatives chamber today and and wounded several.

The following members of the house were wounded:

Rep. George H. Fallon (D., Md.).

Rep. Ben F. Jensen (R., A.) shot in the back.

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R., Mich.) shot in the chest.

Rep. Clifford Davis (D., Tenn.) shot in the calf of the left leg.

Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D., Ala.) shot in the leg.

The three assailants — who identified themselves as Puerto Ricans—fired from a public gallery overlooking the chamber.

The woman shouted:

"Free Puerto Rico."

Some members dropped to the floor or ducked behind chairs as the fusillade described by one as sounding like the popping of a string of firecrackers —rang out.

Five members were hit as an estimated 20 shots were fired.

Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R., Pa.) wrestled a pistol away from one of the assailants as he attempted to reload. Then all three were quickly grabbed by Capitol police, turned over to Washington, D.C., police and hustled to local police headquarters.

The girl identified herself as Lolita Lee Bron and said she and her two men companions were Puerto Ricans. One of them said his name was Rafael Cancel and said he came from Puerto Rico.

The office of Puerto Rican commissioner Antonio Fernos-Isern said it could not immediately identify either of the two names.

The shootings recalled the attempted assination of former President Truman on Nov. 1, 1950, when two Puerto Rican nationalists tried to storm Blair House where Mr. Truman House was being repaired. A was living while the White White House guard was killed, one of the Puerto Ricans was slain, and the second, Oscar Collazo, was tried and sentenced to death. Mr. Truman later commuted the sentence to life imprisonment.

Woman Shouts 'Free Puerto Rico

The marksmen rose in their seats as Speaker Joseph Martin was counting a division vote on a bill to admit Mexican laborers to this country.

The woman shouted, "Free Puerto Rico!"

Then they turned loose with what Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) described as German automatics.

Members dived for the floor. Several fell wounded.

Most members temporarily seemed stunned, as if in disbelief. Some thought the blasts were blanks.

Only as they saw the wounded fall to the floor, blood spurting from their wounds, did they realize what had happened.

Van Zandt estimated there were 25 or 30 shots. Others thought there were fewer.

Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala.) also was shot in the leg. He was carried from the building apparently in great pain and was taken to a hospital.

Jensen, bleeding from the back was taken to the speaker's lobby off the chamber and was placed on the floor until a stretcher could be brought.

Bentley was hit in the chest and apparently was in serious condition.

Van Zandt ran up the stairs to the gallery. He said he grabbed one of the young Puerto Ricans as he sought to reload his gun. Van Zandt said he seized the gun and turned the marksman over to capitol police.

Dr. George Calver, Capitol physician, reached the floor only a few minutes after the shooting began. His assistants already were on the job.

House Speaker Joseph W.

MLAs Petition For Increase In Indemnity

There are "plenty of signatures" by MLAs on a petition circulating in the Legislative buildings asking that members' sessional indemnities be boosted, a Socred spokesman said today.

"I didn't sign it, but there are plenty who have," he said.

The five-man Liberal bloc said they had not seen the petition, which asks that indemnities be jumped from $3,000 to $5,000, but CCF and Socred signatures are said to be numerous. The lone Conservative, Dr. Larry Giovando, is also reported to have signed.

Before the session Premier Bennett hinted indemnities were too low for work and sacrifice involved for MLA's who must leave business and jobs to attend sessions.

But he didn't say pay hikes were being considered—at least at present.

Premier Bennett indicated also that cabinet ministers, who get $7,500 plus $3,000 indemnities, were underpaid for the work they do.

U.S. Starts Series of Atomic Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said today an atomic device has been detonated at its proving ground in the Marshall Islands.

AEC chairman Lewis L. Strauss said the detonation was the first in a series of tests.

Only that much information was contained in the AEC's brief announcement which confirmed the start of a series of tests expected to include dentonation of an H-bomb.

CHAMP UNAWARE OF DISASTER

Marciano Sleeps As 7 Die in Fire

LIBERTY, N.Y. (UP)—Investigators poked through charred ruins today to determine the cause of a flash fire that killed seven persons and burned or injured 26 others in the wooden employees' quarters at the Grossinger Hotel, famed Catskill mountain resort.

The flames demolished the three-story frame building early Sunday while the resort's 900 guests, including heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and his family, continued to sleep, unaware of the disaster.

Fire chief Dewey Borden of Liberty said the fire apparently started in an entry-way and spread up the stairway, cutting off escape of 65 employees sleeping in the building. Damage was estimated at $30,000.

The seven who died were trapped in rooms near the third floor landing. The rest of the occupants leaped from the burning building in their nightclothes.

Marciano, here to train for his next championship bout June 17, his infant daughter and his mother, Lena, slept through the commotion. Few of the guests occupying 20 buildings scattered over the 750-acre resort said they heard anything. Most of them are here for winter sports.

THEY STILL SAY 'NYET'

Shipwrecked Russians Refuse To Be Rescued

LERWICK, Shetland Island (AP)—The Russians said "no" again today, this time to an offer to take them off a grounded trawler in a gale-lashed cove.

The 19-man local life saving crew, spray-soaked and tired, has been plying the Soviets with rescue offers since their trawler ran aground Sunday at Burra Firth, in the wild Shetland Islands.

All the life savers collected for their pains were vigorous head shakes from the Russians and one shouted word: "Nyet." So today they went home, leaving the trawler with waves crashing over her.

As the tide receded, coastguardsmen reported the trawler was deeply embedded in sand. They said only a salvage operation with tugs will refloat her. The trawler is one of a Russian fleet which has been herring fishing off the Shetlands.

This is the "Everest Team" which will be making its first western Canada appearance, under Times sponsorship, at Memorial Arena March 8. The conqueror of 29,002-foot Everest is shown with Lady Hillary alighting from a TCA plane in Montreal. Ranged behind him, bottom to top, are Dr. Charles Evans, James Morris of the London Times, and George Lowe. The lectures of Hillary, Evans and Lowe will be accompanied by slides of the epic ascent. Net proceeds of the Victoria show, for which the band of HMCS Naden will play, will go to the Cerebral Palsy Association and Greater Victoria Arts Centre. (TCA Photo.)

Strikes, Polio, 'Quakes Mar Queen's Visit

MELBOURNE, Australia (UP)—Queen Elizabeth went to the opera tonight as a trio of troubles threatened to mar her tour of Australia.

1. Striking dockworkers here refused to unload any of the ships in Melbourne harbor, including the royal liner Gothic, which an economy-minded British government loaded with automobiles, hand-operated fire pumps and other cargo for the trip to Australia.

2. An earth-tremor rocked but did not damage the city of Adelaide, which the Queen is scheduled to visit in two weeks, and geologists said another tremor was likely "soon."

3. Authorities in western Australia pondered whether to cancel five large gatherings of schoolchildren scheduled to greet the Queen because of a polio outbreak in the state.

Nehru Orders U.S. to Leave Kashmir State

Turns Down Aid; Quotes Charter

NEW DELHI, India (UP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru today demanded angrily that American observers get out of disputed Kashmir, and attacked the United States for making alliances which he said by-passed the United Nations.

Nehru's ire was aroused by the United States agreement to extend military aid to India's neighbor, Pakistan.

The Indian prime minister bluntly rejected President Dwigh D. Eisenhower's offer of similar arms aid to India. He said it was an invitation to Indians to be "hypocrites and unprincipled opportunists."

He told a cheering session of parliament that if India objects to extension of U.S. arms aid to Pakistan, she cannot accept such aid for herself.

Nehru said he personally doubted whether such regional military alliances conform to the United Nations charter.

"These separate talks between countries are in the nature of military alliances," Nehru said. "It is up to us to consider how much they are in consonance with the spirit of the United Nations charter . . .

"That, I submit, is not the way either to work the United Nations or fulfill the purposes of the charter or remove tensions in world."

Atassy, 80, Restored as Syrian Chief

DAMASCUS, Syria (UP)—Eighty-year-old Hasham El Atassy entered this ancient capital in triumph as president today after new riots which raised the toll in five days of revolution to at least 12 killed.

Restored to the leadership from which he had been ousted in 1951, Atassy rode into Damascus at the head of a long procession of automobiles carrying leaders of the revolt that threw out dictator Adib Shishekly.

It was expected that Atassy would announce a new government this afternoon.

Atassy came from the provincial city of Homs, 90 miles north of Damascus, where he had forged an uneasy truce between the army rebels who ousted Shishekly and supporters of the dictator, now a refugee in Saudi Arabia.

The new president was welcomed at the city gates by the mayor and government and army leaders.

20 Said Held After Washington Drama

WASHINGTON (AP)—House of Representatives Speaker Joseph Martin said late today he had been informed the gunmen who fired into the House chamber were among a "busload" of Puerto Ricans who visited the capital. He said he was advised that about 20 have been taken into custody but "I don't think they rounded up all of them."

WASHINGTON (UP)—A girl shouting "Free Puerto Rico" and two men opened fire with pistols on Congressmen in the House of Representatives chamber today and wounded five.

The following members of the house were wounded:

Rep. George H. Fallon (D., Md.).

Rep. Ben F. Jensen (R., A. shot in the back.

Rep. Alvin M. Bently (R., Mich.) shot in the chest.

Rep Clifford Davis (D. Tenn.) shot in the calf of the left leg.

Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D., Ala.) shot in the leg.

The three assailants — who identified themselves as Puerto Ricans—fired from a public gallery overlooking the chamber.

The woman shouted:

"Free Puerto Rico."

Some members dropped to the floor or ducked behind chairs as the fusillade—described by one as sounding like the popping of a string of firecrackers—rang out.

Five members were hit as an estimated 20 shots were fired.

Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R., Pa.) wrestled a pistol away from one of the assailants as he attempted to reload. Then all three were quickly grabbed by Capitol police, turned over to Washington, D.C., police and hustled to local police headquarters.

The girl identified herself as Lolita Lee Bron and said she and her two men companions were Puerto Ricans. One of them said his name was Rafael Cancel and said he came from Puerto Rico.

The office of Puerto Rican commissioner Antonio Fernos-Isern said it could not immediately identify either of the two names.

The shootings recalled the attempted assination of former President Truman on Nov. 1, 1950, when two Puerto Rican nationalists tried to storm Blair House where Mr. Truman was living while the White House was being repaired. A White House guard was killed, one of the Puerto Ricans was slain, and the second, Oscar Collazo, was tried and sentenced to death. Mr. Truman later commuted the sentence to life imprisonment.

Woman Shouts 'Free Puerto Rico'

The marksmen rose in their seats as Speaker Joseph Martin was counting a division vote on a bill to admit Mexican laborers to this country.

The woman shouted, "Free Puerto Rico!"

Then they turned loose with what Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) described as German automatics.

Members dived for the floor. Several fell wounded.

Most members temporarily seemed stunned, as if in disbelief. Some thought the blasts were blanks.

Only as they saw the wounded fall to the floor, blood spurting from their wounds, did they realize what had happened.

Van Zandt estimated there were 25 or 30 shots. Others thought there were fewer.

Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala.) also was shot in the leg. He was carried from the building apparently in great pain and was taken to a hospital.

Jensen, bleeding from the back was taken to the speaker's lobby off the chamber and was placed on the floor until a stretcher could be brought.

Bentley was hit in the chest and apparently was in serious condition.

Van Zandt ran up the stairs to the gallery. He said he grabbed one of the young Puerto Ricans as he sought to reload his gun. Van Zandt said he seized the gun and turned the marksman over to capitol police.

Dr. George Calver, Capitol physician, reached the floor only a few minutes after the shooting began. His assistants already were on the job.

EYEWITNESS SAW 'JAGGED HOLE'

'I Thought They Were Blanks—Then I Hit the Deck'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here is Washington Representative Don Magnuson's account of the shooting in the House of Representatives today as telephone to the Seattle Times.

BY DON MAGNUSON
Congressman-at-Large

WASHINGTON—I thought they were firing blanks until I saw a jagged hole suddenly open in the ceiling of the House Chamber. Then I hit the deck.

A moment later the shooting stopped, and the would-be assassins were seized by guards and dragged from the gallery.

It happened that I was facing the corner of the gallery in which the shooting occurred.

I heard a shot. When I looked up that way I saw two men and a woman brandishing revolvers and firing at the floor of the House.

At the same time, they were screeching something in a foreign tongue. The shots came in such rapid-fire order that at first I thought someone had set off a string of firecrackers.

Then I saw flames streaking from the muzzles of the revolvers, and saw where one bullet hit the ceiling.

I suddenly realized that it was the real thing, and threw myself to the floor, thus gaining the protection of the row of seats in front of me.

Many of the members near me stayed in their seats, or on their feet, throughout the entire fusilade.

Apparently they believed, as I did, that blanks were being fired.
